Indianapolis, IN.- Midwest Plumbing Indianapolis, a top-rated plumber in Indianapolis, is putting the safety of their staff and clients in the utmost position of importance. They are committed to following the guidance set forth by the U.S. Federal Government, the CDC, and other health agencies.

In this time of uncertainty, Midwest Plumbing Indianapolis is placing safety as their top priority as they continue to serve the community to the best of their ability. With over 50 years of plumbing experience, Midwest Plumbing Indianapolis?s Service Professionals have perfected their service techniques and procedures to provide an ample level of safety that their clients deserve. Today, they continue to offer the same high-quality service but are utilizing electronic tools for payment and communication to reduce in-person contact.

Midwest Plumbing Indianapolis is committed to adhering to the safety guidance provided by the Federal Government, the CDC, and other health agencies. Some of these guidelines include: frequently washing hands with soap for at least 20 seconds, using an alcohol-based hand sanitizer when soap and water are not available, keeping six feet away from people, cleaning frequently touched surfaces, immediately disposing of tissues that have been coughed or sneezed in, and staying home when sick. While on the job, Midwest Plumbing Indianapolis Service Professionals work hard to abide by these guidelines for the safety of their clients, their colleagues, and themselves.

Midwest Plumbing Indianapolis is a leading plumbing company in Indianapolis, IN. They are dedicated to working hard to provide their community with 24/7 emergency plumbing services.
