In her own words, ?My name is Karolina Blaszkiewicz, and I help women transform their lives and relationships. Today, I'd like to offer you an opportunity to join a select group of women who are committed to reaffirming their right to be full of passion, happy and fulfilled in life with a loving, trustworthy man by their side.? She offers women the chance to rediscover their right to happiness.

She goes on to add that, ?My goal with this course is to help more women more quickly. I don't want to make the price an obstacle. I've spent thousands of dollars and hours studying, traveling and learning from inspiring teachers, reading, doing courses and working with women from all over the world. The techniques and insights I'll be sharing with you during this course are virtually priceless. In truth, you can't put a price on happiness.?

Blaszkiewicz stresses the importance of transforming one's beliefs into positive ones. She asks women to imagine how life would be when one believes that they are attractive to any man. She also emphasizes the importance of being comfortable in one's own skin and not having to be perfect or a size zero to be attractive to another person. She also asks women to, "Imagine transforming yourself from insecure to relaxed, from self-doubting to feeling anchored within yourself." Not only would it improve one's confidence, but it may positively impact all other aspects in one's life.

One aspect that Blaszkiewicz highlights is that a bad marriage can have a negative impact on one's health. She states that, "The truth is that men are naturally designed to be attracted to the female form and energy, and there isn't much a woman "has to do" to gain their attention, like so many glossy magazines out there want you to believe, only further perpetrating your insecurities. Again, this applies whether you are in a relationship or not." She advises all women, no matter their relationship status, to believe that they are enough and that they are attractive in their own way.

Tara Marie recommends Karolina Blaszkiewicz on her Facebook page as well, stating that, "Karolina has helped me so much on my spiritual and emotional journey. She shares amazing healing tools and is one of the kindest, most caring souls I have ever met. I am so grateful for our connection." This is just one of many other positive recommendations and testimonials about the teacher on her Facebook page and website.

Blaszkiewicz states that she will be going into these topics in depth during her 8-week program and in her one-on-one session with clients. The program aims to guide women in transforming their love lives, no matter whether the client is in a relationship or currently single. The goal is to help women transform limiting beliefs into positive ones. The program may also help clients heal from their past and move forward with increased intuition and self-awareness. Additionally, one may find that their communications skills improve during this period as well as being more in tune with their femininity. She invites all interested women to find out more about this program by joining the free Facebook group.
