Frisco, TX - Frisco orthodontist, Dr. Shireen Irani is the proud recipient of a new mural in her orthodontics practice, mBrace Frisco Orthodontics. "Dr. Shireen" as she is lovingly referred to by patients commisioned local artist and teacher, Chelsey Rogers to paint a mural on the large interior wall of the practice.

The roughly 40 foot long mural is an abstraction of magenta, pinks, blues and greens which serves as a colorful backdrop for patients to gaze at as they recieve their regular braces checkups.

"I've always worked hard to make sure mine is the most cheerful practice possible," stated Dr. Shireen, "and I love promoting local artists however I can. This art really amplifies the lively, energetic atmosphere I want patients - both kids and adults - to feel when they visit me."

The artist, Chelsey Rogers is the owner of Color Hype, a mobile painting class business in the Dallas area. Chelsey primarily focuses on leading classes that teach students her methods of painting pets, color abstractions, creative uses of inks and gold leaf and a technique called "acrylic pour" among other things. The business model itself as creative as the medium it teaches, centers on running paid classes at locations hosted by clients and has been lauded by students as an upbuilding means to draw people together in a fun environment.

In a recent Facebook post, Rogers mentions the work she did at mBrace and posted a time-lapse video of her painting the mural. "I don?t typically have a ton of time for murals but this week I hustled and threw this little thing together at mBrace Orthodontics office in Frisco! Did you know I started painting only 10 years ago? Sometimes you just have to start, follow a dream and see where it leads...."
