Clean Group Strata Cleaning Offers Area Commercial and Dual-Use Properties Many Advantages

September 09, 2020

SYDNEY, NSW - September 09, 2020 -
The Clean Group, wants commercial property owners and managers to be aware of all of the benefits that strata cleaning services such as theirs offer them. They feel that professional strata cleaning is the only way that common areas on commercial and dual-use properties can be thoroughly cleaned and sanitized. This is just one of the many sought-after commercial cleaning services that this reputable Sydney-based company offers.

The Clean Group owner, Suji Siv says, ?There is a reason why most companies outsource their properties strata cleaning needs. That?s because it?s a complex task that requires a team of professional cleaners working in sync to get it done properly and efficiently. No company wants to be lacking when it comes to having their strata areas thoroughly cleaned, especially in this day and age of spreading viruses.?

Siv says that strata cleaning not only involves taking care of the cleaning needs of common areas in a business but may be tied in with other types of commercial cleaning services that they offer too. He says examples of commercial properties that typically demand the services of expert strata cleaning teams include multi-unit residential properties, commercial properties, retail businesses, serviced apartments, retirement communities, large hotels, and resorts. According to the company CEO, their strata cleaning services can even be tailored to meet the individual common area cleaning needs of each client that hires them to do this important service. Some of the areas on commercial, multi-unit dwellings, and dual-use properties that are included in strata cleaning services include lobbies, stairwells, hallways, gyms, swimming pools, lounges, and elevators. He says that in addition to sweeping, mopping, and wiping down these common building areas, their strata cleaning services also do a detailed cleaning of such room items as light switches, railings, electrical outlet coverings, tables, chairs, rubbish containers, carpets, furniture, and even elevator buttons.

The company CEO says that some of the distinct advantages that professional strata cleaning offers is the level of training that strata cleaning teams such as theirs undergo. They are taught the absolute best practices when it comes to the type of cleaning that is necessary on different building common areas and how to leave these areas efficiently sanitized and germ-free once the cleaning has been completed. He added that his company also provides their strata cleaning teams with state-of-the-art cleaning equipment and the specialized know-how it takes to use it. They also use environmentally friendly cleaning solutions that do not leave behind traces of harmful chemicals that can impact employees, tenants, visitors, guests, and customers' health. Siv says that when strata cleaning is properly done by professional cleaning crews, it also leaves a very favorable impression on those that work, live, or visit any commercial property.

The company?s commitment to offering superior strata cleaning services was even highlighted in a recent press release. That press release can be seen here at https://thejournalistreport.com/news/clean-group-committed-to-be-a-reliable-amp-safe-provider-of-strata-cleaning-services/0246725. As part of that commitment, it highlights that the company has constantly been perfecting their strata cleaning methods over the 20-years they have been offering this type of service. The article mentions that it only takes a simple three-step process to contract with them to handle a commercial client?s strata property cleaning needs. This includes a prospective client contacting The Clean Group to set up a time for a property inspection, the client then reviewing the company?s follow-up strata cleaning cost proposal, and then working out any last-minute details before signing of the contract.

The Clean Group's commercial cleaning services go well beyond just cleaning the strata areas on different types of properties too. This includes their highly-rated standard commercial cleaning services and their specialized office, medical, pub, gym, school, and childcare facility cleaning services. They even offer other specialty commercial cleaning services such as carpet cleaning and after construction clean-up.

Siv says that commercial property owners or managers that are interested in getting more information on their strata or other cleaning services are welcome to call them, send them an e-mail or visit the company website.
