September 22, 2020 -
Mark Lutchman, a conservative influencer known for his views on US politics, is pleased to announce the launch of his new website: The Lutchman Report. All those interested in keeping up with the country?s latest developments are welcome to visit the website and sign up for more.

"This is the culmination of several month's worth of effort. I have been looking forward to the launch of this site for a long time, so finally being able to announce it to the public is very exciting for me and my team," states Lutchman. "We worked hard to create a platform that is easily accessible for anyone, and we will be covering all kinds of news that may be of relevance to the community. We will keep an eye out for any improvements we can make and listen for feedback from our readers on this very same area. This is a public resource that we hope will help the community stay informed about what is going on in the country, shedding light on all kinds of topics of interest."

Lutchman teamed up with Stephen Twomey of MasterMindSEO to build The Lutchman Report. He says, "Everyone at MasterMindSEO was nothing but helpful, and they showed a remarkable willingness to help me build a site that fit my goals and vision. I could not be happier with the result, and I will definitely be working with them in the future."

During the site?s construction, Lutchman states that he had the vision of creating a space that could serve as more than a news platform. As a result, he built a site with a content writing space that he hopes to expand soon to include several areas that cover specialized news regarding specific topics. One of these spaces, he says, will effectively be a platform for video creators who can dive deep into what is really happening in today's world. This ?platform? is expected to arrive soon.

Lutchman states, "It can be difficult to keep up to date with everything that's going on in your specific area of interest. We expect that, by bringing you the news in a condensed, easily-digestible manner, you will be able to stay on top of things and keep a firm grasp on the latest trends that are of interest to you."

The Lurchman Report will cover various subjects, from sports stories to political happenings, and it will include technology, lifestyle and human right news from all across the world. This makes it a must-read for US audiences ? who will now have all of this crucial information easily accessible on a single site.

Mark Lutchman is a social media influencer and content creator. He is known as a voice of empowerment and commitment through his social media platforms, where he also offers advice, guidance and inspiration to his followers. His base consists mostly of conservative viewers, many of whom were drawn to him after a political video he posted online went viral in a Trump support group.

In a recent Mark Lutchman interview with Thrive Global, he spoke about his beginnings as an influencer, explaining that, "I saw that a big Trump page had used my video, and it had gotten millions of views. I reached out to the page and made a great friend named Jason who helped me make a Facebook fan page and get started on more videos, to which I would get millions of more views. Ever since then, I have been making conservative-style commentary videos and have been a voice for the many black conservatives who struggle to find their place in the country."

Separately, Lutchman adds, ?We all have our ups and downs, though what separates us from one another is how we fight to overcome these challenges and make the most of a difficult situation. It all starts with a change in mentality. Under the right guidance, however, everyone can learn how to better themselves and find success in their lives.?
