Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Albany wants to emphasize that victims of personal injury accidents should contact an Albany GA personal injury attorney right away instead of accepting the settlement offer from the insurance company. Because of the expensive and extensive medical treatment that is often required for a personal injury, victims might be tempted to accept the offer from the insurance adjuster. However, it is important to note that adjusters are likely to make a very low offer since their goal is to maximize profit for the insurance company. The problem with accepting the offer from the adjuster is that the victim will be asked to sign a waiver that will prevent the victim from pursuing any legal action in the future against the person responsible for the injury.

He continues, ?If you have suffered any type of personal injury, our Albany personal injury lawyers are here during your time of need. We will fight to protect your legal rights. For your free consultation, call us now.?
