Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Duluth, a law firm in Duluth, GA, advises victims of personal injury accidents not to go for a quick settlement by accepting the offer of an insurance adjuster. Instead, they should consult with a dependable Duluth GA personal injury attorney who will fight for their legal rights. They want to point out that insurance companies are not actually on the side of accident victims because their goal is to minimize the value of the claim as much as possible. Many people make the mistake of agreeing to the offer made by the insurance adjuster because of the increasing medical bills that they need to pay for their treatment.

Tim Derrickson, a spokesperson for Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C., says, ?It is important to keep in mind that the insurance company is not on your side. The insurance adjuster that you are dealing with does not work for you or in your interest. Their goal is to minimize your settlement while saving money for their company. Almost any settlement offer that you receive early in the case will not take into account several important factors, including the cost of your future medical treatment and the amount of your pain and suffering you endured from the crash.?

The lawyers at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Duluth will not allow the insurance companies to bully the personal injury victims. They will examine every angle of the case and even get the help of experts who are able to provide an estimate of the amount that can be claimed. It is only after they have completed a thorough investigation that they will make a claim against the insurance company. If the insurance firm refuses to agree to a fair settlement, they will then take the case to court to ensure that the victim will get what he or she deserves.

A common type of personal injury is due to a car accident. Thus, when in need of a car accident law firm Duluth Georgia residents can go to Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Duluth. The car accident lawyers will be assisting these victims every step of the way. They are very much aware of the pain and stress that victims are going through so they will take care of all the legal details and the insurance company so that victims can focus on their recovery.

Aside from car accident victims, they can also help victims of pedestrian accidents who may suffer a serious and debilitating injury that can drastically change their way of life. Injured pedestrians may be able to seek compensation for lost wages, medical bills, for their pain and suffering, and more.

They can also help victims of medical malpractice. In the state of Georgia, those who want to make a medical malpractice claim will have to first prove that the physician or nurse was negligent in the care and treatment provided for the patient. This requires the presence of an expert witness who will state that the patient had received substandard care. This expert will take into account the accepted standards of medical practice within that local community and then evaluate whether the provider had failed to comply with those standards. Next, the patient must be able to provide evidence that he or she was harmed by the negligence of the health care provider.

Victims of dog bites may also seek for compensation. In most cases, it must be shown that the dog owner has knowledge that his or her dog has dangerous and vicious tendencies. If the owner knew this and had failed to restrain the dog, he or she may be held responsible for any injuries caused by the dog bite.
