Atlanta, Georgia - September 21, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C., a law firm in Atlanta, GA, is advising injured parties to seek the counsel of an Atlanta personal injury attorney. This is important because an injured individual is entitled to medical care and compensation for the injuries. The at-fault party and their insurance company have certain obligations to the injured party regarding the injury.

Tim Derrickson, a representative for the law firm, says, "If you have been injured you should seek the counsel of Ken Nugent. The Law Offices of Ken Nugent can quickly review your case and determine what compensation and care you are entitled to regarding your injury. Insurance companies know what obligations they have to the injured party. However, they often rely on the fact that the public is unaware of these obligations, which allows them to deny claims."

He continues, "Hiring a professional law firm is the easiest way that you can avoid falling victim to these practices by the insurance companies. An accident attorney, like those found at the Law Offices of Ken Nugent, will protect your rights and demand that the insurance company complies with the law.?

Insurance companies know that those who have been injured and are recuperating are going through a difficult phase in their lives. In addition to the pain and suffering that they are experiencing due to their injuries, they are also under stress due to unpaid bills piling up, loss of income due to inability to go to work, and worries about the fate of his or her loved ones. Insurance adjusters often take advantage of this and try to offer a settlement, which will likely be very low because their goal is to minimize the expense for the insurance company.

It is also important to note that insurance companies have their own team of lawyers who will help them avoid paying significant amounts to the injured party. It is therefore imperative for the personal injury victim to have his or her own legal representation to ensure that he or she will get what is legal and proper. The personal injury lawyer Atlanta residents would want to have is one that will give them peace of mind with the knowledge that their legal rights will be taken care of, and that they can focus on their healing and recovery.

The lawyers at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. can take care of any personal injury case but there are some in which they specialize because these are the ones where they have the most experience in. For instance, they typically handle auto accident cases for cars, motorcycles and trucks. Car accidents are the easiest for them because it is relatively easy to find the vehicle at fault. On the other hand, truck and motorcycle accidents can be a challenge. This is because the insurance companies for trucks are difficult to fight against and there are a lot of stakeholders involved. Motorcycle accidents may also be a challenge because witnesses may describe the accident in a number of ways and there may also be witnesses for the respondent side. The lawyers at the firm are well experienced in handling these challenges.

The personal injury attorneys at the firm can also handle slip and fall injuries and medical malpractice cases. These two kinds of cases need a thorough understanding of the case and the plaintiff's point of view. Thus, they require the professionalism and experience that lawyers in the firm possess. Other practice areas for the lawyers at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. include wrongful death, workers compensation and workplace injuries, overtime and unpaid wages, insurance bad faith, dangerous products and premises, and nursing home abuse.

Wrongful death is when a loved one has been killed in an accident resulting the wrongdoing or negligence of a particular individual. The loved ones who have been left behind may be able to seek compensation from the at-fault party, and the lawyers at the firm can help.

When in need of a personal injury law firm Atlanta residents may want to check out the Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. website, or contact them on the telephone or through email. They can be contacted 24 hours a day, from Monday to Sunday.
