Clean Group Strata Cleaning Now Includes Common Area Garden Maintenance Services

September 28, 2020

SYDNEY, NSW - September 28, 2020 -
The Clean Group wants to let the clients they do strata cleaning services for know that the company?s cleaning teams can take care of garden and plant bed maintenance in these areas as part of this task. This shows that when this reputable Sydney-based commercial cleaning company says that they tailor their services for each individual client, they really mean it. It?s all part of the Clean Group's comprehensive approach to the strata and other commercial cleaning services that they offer.

The company owner, Suji Siv, says, ?Have you ever washed and waxed your car only to step back and be unsatisfied because the tires on your car don?t look good? That?s a lot like a property having strata area?s that are not properly cleaned and kept up. No matter how good the rest of a commercial building or multi-unit dwelling looks, they will not leave a favorable impression on people unless the common areas on these properties look clean and tidy. We go the extra mile for our customers when it comes to cleaning their strata areas. By offering such things as garden and plant bed maintenance in building common areas, it shows our commitment to doing the most comprehensive strata cleaning services that can be found in Sydney, Brisbane, and Melbourne.? He went on to say that their strata garden maintenance services include trimming, watering, new plantings, and keeping plant beds trash-free and looking good.

Siv says that for those who are not familiar with what strata cleaning services are, he says they are the common areas on commercial and multi-dwelling properties that are usually grey areas as far as who is responsible for cleaning them. Many times, this falls under the responsibility of the property manager or building owner. He says these are typically not people who have a lot of trained bodies available to undertake strata cleaning so they often look to professional cleaning services like them for help. The company owner acknowledged this is a good choice because they have cleaners that are experienced and well-trained and know exactly how to keep the strata areas of any type of building clean, sanitized, and looking good. Siv says strata areas in and around a building that are not cleaned regularly tend to accumulate garbage, dust, and dirt which makes them look very unsightly. This leaves a bad impression on tenants, guests, customers, and others who will inevitably end up going through or using these common areas when they visit a property.

The company owner says his strata cleaning teams will keep the common areas on any property looking great in a way that will make a lasting impression on those who transit through these areas. He says they do that by thoroughly cleaning such strata areas as community bathrooms, pool areas, walkways, stairways, elevators, lobbies, car park areas, and more. The strata cleaning services that they do are also very detailed in nature. Siv says they even will clean such items as handrails, elevator buttons, light switches, furniture, garbage bins, doorknobs, window sills, and shelving. He added that not only are their strata cleaners well-trained and experienced but they also are completed using state-of-the-art cleaning equipment and environmentally friendly chemicals that do not leave behind any harmful residue.

The company has also received much attention for the thorough way that they go about doing their strata cleaning services. Evidence of this can be seen in this press release found here at https://www.pressadvantage.com/story/37918-clean-group-strata-cleaning-offers-area-commercial-and-dual-use-properties-many-advantages. It talks about the many advantages that the company?s strata cleaning services offer to the commercial properties and multi-unit dwellings that take advantage of them. The company owner says that for those property managers and owners that are thinking about having the Clean Group take care of their strata areas for them, they would be happy to provide them with a free quote for this service. He says that the easiest way to do that is for an interested party to fill out the free onsite quote form that can be found on the company?s strata cleaning information page.
