Clean Group Uses The Safest COVID-19 Cleaning Technology For Australian Businesses

October 06, 2020

SYDNEY, NSW - October 06, 2020 -
The Clean Group is the name of an industrial cleaning company which provides effective service for malls, offices, and other commercial places. The company prefers to remove the coronavirus, germs and other bacterias through Electrostatic Spray and Zoono Z-71 Virus Shield.

On the implementation of these treatments in the commercial spaces, the effect of chemicals will stay active for 30 days. The same type of virus treatment is using by Australian based companies like Woolworths, Qantas, and CBRE.

The treatment has become very important in the current times they get to know that all these viruses and bacterias have spread through hard surfaces. This spread becomes dangerous to humans. But the Clean Group has more than 20 plus experience and is ready to capture and control the current situation.

The chairman of the Clean Group Suji Siv states that they are focusing on the coronavirus which has ruined life and the environment. The virus is spreading more in commercial places, so we are planning to provide cleaning services across Sydney. The company dares to adopt the risks as the technicians are highly experienced and are doing the same work for so many years.

The training provided with time and the use of different treatment processes will give the confidence to the company to implement this process for distinct places properly. While the other companies involved in providing the treatment process are not trained up to the mark as our technicians were. Training will forge the knowledge practically for doing the treatment for bugs, germs, bacterias in air and water.

The Clean Group also states that they are giving their services not only in healing the coronavirus treatments but for coating uneven surfaces for different commercial places. The cleaning operations consists of cleaning floors, coatings of railings, door handles, clean toilet seats, switch, fans, door locks etc. indeed they wipe, and remove the unhygienic surface of computer keyboards, telephones, switchboards, chimneys, refrigerator and tables.

The cleaning process complete in two stages, firstly the process of cleaning will be performed then in the 2nd treatment process for COVID-19 along with the protective shield has to be taken. This two-stage treatment will remove the attack of bacteria as it removes the viruses, germs, bacteria, and other harmful living creators.

The owner added that businesses who have seen the symptoms of the Covid-19 will not have to worry as those people who are getting the cleaning services from us get fully satisfied with the virus-free environment. Also, our technicians suit with top gears and protective shields. Also, they have the skills and knowledge for giving effective commercial cleaning services. There is no risk in doing the job as the safety shield and gear will then be disposed of after finishing the work. Cleaning companies are following the guideline provided by the Australian Government to keep customers as well as the technicians safe.

Among various satisfied customers, one of the customers who has taken services from the Clean Group for disinfection says, ?Since the company had got to know about the spread of Covid-19 then they keep the focus on providing the services for the same to those people. And this was the only available option that I have heard about the sanitization services for the removal of viruses and symptoms. On the initial stage, they will clean the area and then sanitize the area by locking the area for some time removing all the hazardous viruses from place to place. After competition of the process of disinfection, the workers are all set to restart their work.?

Moreover, Siv added that ?For our daily customers the Clean Group is providing the COVID-19 disinfection and protection shield cleaning without charge.? He also further states that Clean Group possesses the cleaning services at the gym, strata, colleges, industries, hospital, restaurants etc. For more information about the Sydney based commercial treatment company and is looking for the treatment of COVID-19 can click here: https://www.pressadvantage.com/story/37901-clean-group-offering-covid-safe-sanitising-and-disinfecting-cleaning-services-in-sydney.
