September 24, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Trussville, Ala. ?Beltone is a well-known?ear doctor?who is continually at the forefront of hearing aid technology. The company recently released the Beltone Imagine, no exception when it comes to groundbreaking hearing aid technology. The Beltone Imagine allows users a natural hearing experience, which has never been possible previously. The device is the first to provide both a microphone and a receiver in the ear and offer users three microphones compared to the standard provided by other devices.

The breakthrough engineering has paved the way for the device to be in its brand-new style category called, Microphone & Receiver-In-Ear (M&R;IE). Common complaints among hearing aid users are unnatural sound, including less depth and direction. This new device will provide users with a natural, immersive hearing experience and will significantly reduce wind noise. Users may immediately notice this technology breakthrough by listening to the sound of their own voice.

The Beltone Imagine comes after ten years of extensive research and understanding of hearing aid technology. The device also comes with direct audio streaming for Apple and Android smartphone users and lifetime care and protection via BelCare. Additionally, the Beltone Imagine is available in eight natural colors, allowing the device to be discreet on almost all skin tones and hair colors.
