September 29, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Escondido, California-based Oak Island AC recently launched a brand new website. Boasting a staff with a combined total of over 70 years' experience in the HVAC industry, Oak Island AC has been providing HVAC services for Escondido and all of North San Diego County since 1998.

Oak Island AC is proud to state that their website has been completely rebuilt from the ground up, ensuring that its visitors will be able to enjoy a brand new experience. While the main reason for the redesign was to bring the website up to modern standards, the redesign has also allowed its navigability and user friendliness to be improved. Visitors can now easily access all the necessary information about Oak Island AC and the services they provide. Additionally, the website has also been optimized thoroughly to ensure that there will be no performance issues, and it will work perfectly across all devices and web browsers.

A representative for Oak Island AC says, "As a company, we have always tried our best to ensure that our customers have the best experience, and it is no different when it comes to our presence online. While our old website certainly performed its job adequately, it was high time that we updated our site. The new website is much more user-friendly and much more modern looking. It better represents the experience we want our customers to have with us."

With over 70 years of combined experience in the heating and air conditioning industry, Oak Island AC can assure shorter, more efficient appointments, more durable solutions and upfront prices. This vast amount of experience also means that the company is equipped well to handle virtually any HVAC installation or repair service that a homeowner or business might need. The company offers home air conditioning and heating services to anyone living in Escondido, San Marcos, Carlsbad, Oceanside and all of North County.

Oak Island AC is quick to boast that they always have and always will center their business on treating their customers as part of their family. According to the company, Les and Cris Young built Oak Island AC from their experience in the industry dating back to 1984, and their focus has not just been on establishing a customer base but extending their family to the customers. The company's representative says, "We know that keeping your home comfortable is a top priority, and we believe that it should always be done correctly and always be affordable. This is why we promise that you will always find the service you need at the price you want."

Oak Island AC's consistent and reliable HVAC services have earned the company a lot of praise from the community. On the Google platform, Oak Island AC has an excellent rating of 4.9 Stars out of 5. In a recent top-rated review, Anthony Janiak says they had a, "Great experience from start to finish. Easy to schedule, quick and flexible scheduling for the project, thorough and professional team. Night and day experience compared to the first company I received a bid from. Honest and consultative approach covered every facet of my project and advised what was worth spending money on and what was not. I highly recommend Jacob and team to anyone in need of heating and AC service."

In another review, Peter Mendez says they also had a satisfying experience with the company. They explain, "I found them through Costco. Jacob communicated the price breakdown clearly. Morgan and team did a great job on the installation and cleanup after. Morgan even worked out a great solution to my full electrical panel without costing me extra. I know I'll be calling them when I build out the Casita for my in-laws."
