Armed or Unarmed Guards: Security Now USA Simplifies What?s Best For Each Business

September 29, 2020 -
Security Now USA, the Trusted Security Service in the USA, has simplified how to determine what type of guard a certain business or organization should have. The company explained that not all establishments need armed guards.

While armed guards initially sound safer, in some cases, unarmed guards may be more appropriate for a certain business or establishment, they say. Armed guards have firearms, while unarmed guards only carry non-deadly weapons such as batons, tasers, and the likes. Armed guards also need more training and license requirements than unarmed guards, but both have first aid training and physical training.

With decades of experience in the security industry, Security Now USA has already mastered the needs of a specific business type.

Security Now USA recommends armed guards for businesses that store or transport large sums of money or expensive valuables such as jewelry, equipment, etc. Armed guards are also necessary for big events that draw large crowds, VIPs, and the media. It is also highly advisable for businesses located in a high-risk and violence-prone area. Those who are willing to pay a higher price for security and can handle the liability brought about by any incidents that may occur, such as the firing of a firearm, should also opt for armed guards.

On the other hand, low-risk establishments such as small stores, churches, and community centers can go with unarmed guards, according to the Private Security Company in CA. Those who operate during the daytime also don?t need armed guards. Unarmed guards are also acceptable for businesses that are open to the public and close to the police station or in an accessible location.

?Ensuring the safety and security of your employees, customers, and other stakeholders should be one of the top priorities of any big or small business and establishment, whether it may be armed or unarmed security guards,? states Security Now USA.

Security Now USA offers both armed and unarmed personnel. The security service company provides 24/7 protection across all states in the United States of America. They offer highly-trained, licensed, and insured guards. ?We also take pride in our easy-to-access online system that offers fast online booking, real-time location, history, and incident reports, and a direct line to your guard on duty,? they add.
