

PermaKill Exterminating Co. LLC Launches New Website

October 06, 2020

October 06, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

PermaKill Exterminating Co. LLC, a pest control company in Flanders, NJ, has announced that they have recently launched their new website. This locally owned and family owned company of pest control experts serves Morris County, Somerset County, and nearby areas. They needed to update their website to ensure that site visitors will be able to navigate easily and that the site will display properly in mobile gadgets even with their limited screen space.

The company is a pest removal and management specialist that is focused on providing comprehensive home protection. PermaKill is a member of both the New Jersey Pest Management Association, where owner Frank Illnick serves on the board, and the National Pest Management Association.

Frank Illnick, an experienced entomologist and owner of Perma Kill Exterminating Co., says, "We're happy to announce that we have recently launched our website. This will ensure that site visitors will find the site easy to navigate. We've also ensured that our site is now mobile responsive."

He adds, "Your search for the top pest exterminator in New Jersey ends today. PermaKill Exterminating is an NJ pest removal and management specialist dedicated to comprehensive home protection. Our team is composed of technicians, analysts, and exterminators that treat pest control as a science. From the behavior of insects and bugs to the logistics of removal, we have the knowledge to execute the job perfectly, every single time."

Their guiding philosophy is to treat the homes of their clients like their home, and their services include both non-chemical and chemical pest management strategies, depending on the specific situation. They will treat each case differently and offer the appropriate treatment based on the homeowner's specific problems. Those who would like to know more about the company may want to follow their Facebook page.

They are a homegrown exterminator business in New Jersey with more than 30 years of experience. This means that they know what local customers expect with regards to pest removal and pest control. They will not provide a one-size-fits-all solution for every client but instead will develop a tailor-fitted pest control solution through a number of steps.

They will first evaluate the situation. After a short consultation with the client, they will visit the home to obtain firsthand knowledge about the specific situation. Next, they will look for signs of an infestation. They will then discuss the pest control method with the client, breaking down the process required to get rid of the pest from home. These will include the tools, equipment, and techniques that will be used. And after completing the job, they will provide preventative care with their professional technicians offering additional tips for the homeowner to be able to keep the home pest free even in the future.

They provide a home protection plan where they offer all year-round protection from various pests. For this program, after an initial inspection, they will treat the home three times a year, during spring, summer, and fall, including any time of the year that pests appear. This home protection plan covers: bees, carpenter bees, wasps, and yellowjackets; carpenter ants; centipedes; crickets; cockroaches; ground beetles; mice & rats; pantry pests; pavement ants; and spiders.

Many of those who have already experienced the pest control services of PermaKill Exterminating Co. have given highly positive reviews. For example, Carly A. gave them five stars and said, "Noticed a huge wasp nest and John was at our house within an hour. He was extremely professional and got rid of the nest in no time. He went above and beyond as he looked around our property twice to make sure no other nests were around. Highly recommend."

Homeowners who are in need of pest control services may want to check out the PermaKill Exterminating Co. website, or contact them on the telephone, or via email. They may also want to take a look at the company's GMB listing to find out their exact location and other important information. They are open from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm, from Monday to Friday.
