

Diaper Changing Clutch Gets Positive Reviews Announces 3 Bees and Me

September 10, 2015

September 10, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Earlier today, 3 Bees and Me, the company popularly known for their diaper changing clutch, happily announced that their product still continues to receive an overwhelming number of positive reviews from buyers. As always, the company is grateful to everyone who has given so much support for their well-known baby essential.

"We want to take this opportunity to thank everyone for the continuous outpour of good reviews for our awesome and trend-setting changing station with mat. We are very happy that a lot of people consider us to be their go-to brand," says Holly James, 3 Bees and Me spokesperson. "It is our pleasure to provide to you a world-class product that you can use for your precious baby. We only use the best materials to make sure that it is a worth-it product and that you will not regret your purchase."

Some of the good reviews the product received so far include the following:

"This diaper changing pad is so handy and very pretty too. It comes with several pockets where you can put diapers, wipes, some personal items. It is super easy to wipe down as well. I also love that it is bigger than most changing pads. My one year old is pretty big and she fits very well on it.? ?Belle09

?This product is great. It is very easy to carry around and fold up for easy storage. It is stylish which makes it actually easier for my wife to carry around because it doesn't look like a baby changing pad. Great product for parents that are on the go.? -David Holman

?This is a perfect gift for baby showers or to the soon to be parent/s. The designs are nice, its like a clutch where you can hang it in the stroller, ready when you need it and the materials used in this product is durable and high quality. This is a great product for those who have baby/ies because when you want to change their diaper when you're outside the house, you will not put them directly to the changing table, imagine those germs left with the previous users, so protect your baby this changing pad is a must have. It?s a great buy!?! -Dana Rhodes

This changing kit is now considered a must have for every parent. The clutch is compact and small making it ideal for short trips. It includes several compartments that can accommodate diapers and wipes. The Chevron style design of the clutch is also seen on the diaper pad, which is large and easy to fold.

3 Bees and Me?s success can be partly attributed to the positive reviews the product has been getting at amazon. If this continues, it will not be surprising anymore that they will be considered a top brand in the baby products industry.

###

For more information about 3 Bees and Me, contact the company here:3 Bees and MeHolly James888-434-6206press@3beesandme.com31855 Date Palm DrSuite 3-245Cathedral City, CA 92234

3 Bees and Me

3 Bees & Me sells high quality baby products that are unique and different. 3 Bees & Me has recently started selling on Amazon.com.

Website: <http://3beesandme.com>

Email: press@3beesandme.com

Phone: 888-434-6206

