futurepace

TECH

Futurepace Tech Creates New YouTube Channel

October 01, 2015

October 01, 2015 -
Futurepace Tech LLC, based in Valley Cottage, NY, has announced the creation of a brand new YouTube channel. This channel will be used to provide useful information about the products they sell, as well as for customers to leave video reviews of their experiences with the products. While the company will also continue to accept Amazon reviews, they now encourage their customers to accompany those with video messages, which will be featured on the new YouTube channel.

"We love all the positive reviews we have been getting from our customers," says Robyn Everingham from Futurepace Tech LLC. "What we have found, however, is that people prefer to actually see how something works and how it is used by people. Hence, we would love to ask our customers to create videos of themselves using the product. If they send this to us, it will be posted on our brand new YouTube channel. They channel will also include other useful information about our different products."

To draw attention to their new YouTube channel, Futurepace is asking their customers to get creative. They would love to see the innovative ways people have found on how to use the stainless steel insulated bottle, going above and beyond simply keeping water or tea/coffee in them. Customers have fantastic abilities to think outside of the box and Futurepace is looking forward to hearing about that.

"We want to know all about how people are using the stainless steel insulated bottle," adds Robyn Everingham. "For example, parents are giving it to their children to keep them hydrated during school days, hikers are taking it with them to access cool refreshing water on hikes, and builders are using it to bring hot soup with them to work. We have even seen someone using it for juicing, thereby encouraging overall health and nutrition. That is what we would love to see!"

Futurepace Tech LLC has a strong commitment towards improving the health of their customers. They regularly release advice, information and guidance on the importance of hydration, as well as showing people how to stay hydrated. Their insulated stainless steel water bottle plays a pivotal role in achieving this goal.
###
For more information about Futurepace Tech LLC, contact the company here:Futurepace Tech LLCRobyn Everingham845 400 1061admin@futurepacetech.com616 Corporate WaySuite 2 - 6552VALLEY COTTAGE NY 10989

Futurepace Tech LLC

Futurepace Tech is a Lifestyle Products company committed to innovation, sustainability, making shopping simple and delighting our style savvy customers.

Website: http://www.futurepacetech.com

Email: admin@futurepacetech.com

Phone: 845 400 1061

futurepace

TECH