

Portable Diaper Changing Clutch Has Gender-Neutral Design, Announces 3 Bees and Me

September 16, 2015

September 16, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Earlier today, 3 Bees and Me proudly shared that their portable diaper changing clutch has a gender-neutral design. Specifically, each clutch and mat has the elegant Chevron-style pattern. The company chose the classic design in order to cater to a wider market.

"We have always believed that aside from quality, the look of a product is also important. With this in mind, we chose the Chevron black and white design for the changing mat," says 3 Bees and Me representative, Holly James. "Since it has a classic design, it can be carried by both mothers and fathers. The design is perfect for those who want something that is stylish. While it actually looks expensive, the price is actually reasonable."

The gender-neutral design is well-loved by buyers as frequently seen in reviews. In a review given by Michelle, she wrote: "This is the greatest idea. I purchased this 3 Bees & Me portable diaper changing pad to give as a gift. The portable changing pad unfolds to a rather large changing pad, which can be wiped out with a sudsy cloth and then rinsed clean. When the changing pad is folded up it looks like a purse. The chevron print gives it great character and is stylish. I believe my friend is going to love this."

This diaper clutch has an expandable mesh pouch where parents can put in baby diapers and wipes. It also has a zippered front pocket where valuables such as money and keys can be kept. The clutch has a wrist strap and very easy to carry during short trips with the baby. This can also be used as an attachment to baby strollers during walks. For the diaper mat, it is large, but can easily be folded and kept when not in use. It is also made of a vinyl material that can be easily sanitized after use.

Based on feedback, the classic design of 3 Bees and Me's product is a stand-out among clutches at amazon. Most diaper changing kits are usually printed in bold colors that are more often than not, gender-specific. This particular product gives the buyers an option to go for something that gives off a sophisticated vibe.

###

For more information about 3 Bees and Me, contact the company here: 3 Bees and Me Holly James 888-434-6206 press@3beesandme.com 31855 Date Palm Dr Suite 3-245 Cathedral City, CA 92234

3 Bees and Me

3 Bees & Me sells high quality baby products that are unique and different. 3 Bees & Me has recently started selling on Amazon.com.

Website: <http://3beesandme.com>

Email: press@3beesandme.com

Phone: 888-434-6206

Powered by PressAdvantage.com