November 03, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Northbrook, Illinois-based Northbrook Dentist Office is reaching out to explain the different measures they are taking to ensure their patients' safety during the COVID-19 pandemic. With the majority of the country suffering from general unease due to the current situation, the local dental practice is seeking to offer reassurance to their community by explaining the many initiatives and precautions they have taken to prevent the spread of the virus within their clinic.

Dr. Steven Kacel of the Northbrook Dentist Office states, "Our patients' well-being is our utmost priority, and as such, we have taken every measure possible to ensure their health is never put at risk. We will be attending to all CDC guidelines, keeping interpersonal contact to a minimum wherever possible. Additional measures will also be taken, as this is the least we can do to guarantee our patients' peace of mind during these difficult times."

For the time being, the practice will only be allowing one person in the waiting room at any given time. This will require collaboration from their patients, both in arriving on time for their appointments and waiting until they are given the all-clear to enter. All visitors will be asked to clean their hands with sanitizer upon arrival, and the clinic states that they will be taking each person's temperature and blood oxygen levels as a preemptive test for the possible presence of the COVID-19 virus.

Additional preparations have also been taken on the side of the practices' staff as well as their facilities to prevent the virus? spread. Dr. Kacel says, "You will see plexiglass room dividers along with curtains dividing the office into small rooms where each has a HEPPA-H air cleaner/filter. You will also notice that everyone is wearing a mask and all clinical staff are wearing hair covers as well as shoe covers, along with protective shields and long isolation gowns."

Finally, each patient will be escorted out of the office once their treatment is finished, avoiding contact with other individuals waiting for their appointment. All door knobs and countertops will be sanitized after each patient as well. While this is a new experience for all parties involved, the Northbrook Dentist Office states that they will do everything within their power to make sure that their patients have a positive experience during their visit. They assure their patients that they will be treated with the same care and attention that has always been a core part of their services.

The Northbrook Dentist Office is rated one of the best dental care clinics in the area, having earned a distinguished reputation over the numerous years they have been serving the community. They have received nearly 250 reviews since they first opened their doors to the general public, and while most of these are spread across multiple platforms, the practice does proudly highlight some of the most recent ones through their website. It is their hope that these reviews will help other patients overcome their hesitation to visit the dentist. Their website can be found here: <https://northbrookdentistoffice.com/>.

One of their most recent testimonials, written by Jessica Hiptoff through the clinic's Superpages space, says, "I was super impressed with Dr. Kacel, Sebina and Kim and their first-rate service. The Kor whitening system that I used was unbelievably effective in whitening my teeth, which were virtually brown from tetracycline use as a child. Having white teeth after over 50 years of living with severely stained teeth has boosted my self-confidence, and in fact, changed my life for the better. I am truly amazed at the result and greatly appreciative and grateful that this Kor system was recommended to me by a friend. The process was easy, painless and worth every penny. Thank you so much."

The Northbrook Dentist Office has two locations, in Highland Park and Deerfield. Their services include Porcelain Veneers, Implants, All Porcelain Crowns and Bridges, Dentures and Partial Dentures, Teeth Whitening and Snoring and Sleep Apnea treatments, among other procedures.
