Proudly Is Expanding To US Capital City

October 19, 2020

October 19, 2020 -
Following its successful work in South Carolina, Proudly is expanding its reach to the capital city of the United States of America ? Washington, District of Columbia.

The expansion of the Best Online Payment Processor in South Carolina is part of its commitment to bring the ?Proudly? cause to all parts of the country. The company uses its services to give back to various causes. Through electronic payment processing, Proudly allows businesses to give back to a cause that is important to them at no additional expense to their company.

?Proudly was developed with the idea of creating auto-contributions, with little to no effort involved. Every product that Proudly creates leads to effortless auto contributions, with zero out of pocket expense to a business,? says Jeff Maine, owner, and founder of Proudly.

Among the charities that benefited from this unique concept of Proudly are the following: Bluffton Self-Help, Hungry Hearts Restaurant Worker Fund, and Hope4Help. These charities are making a positive difference in various communities during this pandemic.

?Most business owners want to give back and Proudly makes it simple with something most are already doing, accepting credit card payments for their goods and services. Every transaction makes a difference,? the company adds.

One can know if a business is a partner of the most Secure Payment Processor in South Carolina if a Proudly heart logo is posted on their window. The company offers Europay MasterCard Visa (EMV) and the Near Field Communications (NFC) payment solutions, the two most preferred consumer payment methods used nowadays.

EMV payment technology has several security features that protect card users from data card skimming and duplication. The card has an integrated CVV that can only be decrypted by an issuing bank. The counterfeit card will lack this encrypted data and cannot be used to make any transactions.

Another safe payment option used by businesses worldwide is NFC, a method utilizing the customer?s mobile device and an NFC reader. Instead of dipping or swiping, consumers can wave their smartphone across an NFC reader when authorizing transactions.

To maximize the benefits of both EMV and NFC payments, Proudly also offers the best payment processors. Proudly provides Point of Sale (POS) systems that can cater to different types of businesses. They have MX Merchant, MX Express iOS+Android, Clover POS, Clover Flex, and Clover Mini.

Proudly?s products are available for various industries, including food & beverage, professional services, e-commerce, and charity / non-profit organizations. They also cater to the wellness & healthcare industry, salon & spa, and hotels & lodging organizations.
