October 19, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The respected media company Hilton Head 360 highlights the 20th year of Cambria, a leading producer of engineered quartz surfaces in the United States. This natural quartz surface is a widely used countertop material.

In an article published by the Creative Agency in Bluffton, SC, Cambria revealed that it is introducing 20 groundbreaking new designs for kitchen, bath, and beyond. The natural stone quartz offers unmatched durability with versatile style and elegance to enhance any room in the home.

Cambria's product is well-loved by customers for it is also wholly non-absorbent, spills never become stains, food bacteria and germs are never absorbed. Cleanup is also simple and only needs a soft cloth, warm water, and mild soap if desired. This type of material also doesn't need any maintenance like sealing or polishing. Moreover, every Cambria surface is backed by a transferable full lifetime warranty to offer peace of mind for life.

Hilton Head 360 says that Cambria's newest designs show boldness and being iconic. Among their latest creations is the Queensbury that adds elegant movement that stands out against both large neutral expanses and large swatches of bold color. This design also has a sparkling white crystal adding an alluring final touch.

Another design is the Colton, with classic marbling. It reflects timeless elegance to sleek, modern spaces. On the other hand, Buxton depicts boldness that is not overbearing. Buxton depicts an industrial, grainy concrete foundation intermixed with gray and cream daubs and a constellation of white speckles.
