October 19, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The founder and president of Omega Wealth Management, LLC, will serve a three-year term.

Omega Wealth Management, LLC, is pleased to announce Lisa A. K. Kirchenbauer, CFP®, RLP®, CeFT® Founder & President of Omega Wealth Management, LLC, has been named to the National Board of the Financial Planning Association for the 2021-2023 term. The Financial Planning Association (FPA) is the leading association for financial planners with over 20,000 national members.

Kirchenbauer brings her 35 years in the financial service industry and her commitment to the profession, to serve on the Board of FPA, the primary membership organization committed to practitioners who want to master the practice of financial planning and help shape the profession's future. FPA has 86 active chapters across the United States. The FPA Board of Directors is responsible for setting the vision and direction of the association. The Board will use FPA's core beliefs as the critical filters for making decisions in a fiduciary capacity on behalf of members and constituents.

Kirchenbauer's area of interest as a new board member of FPA helps financial planners run successful businesses. "As a board member of FPA, I will support and advocate for members," states Kirchenbauer. "I also hope to increase women and people of color within the profession."

Omega Wealth Management, LLC, is a financial life planning company whose approach meets its clients' needs by considering all aspects of a client's values, vision, and wealth. Kirchenbauer founded Omega to provide financial planning holistically and comprehensively called The Omega Method. Omega Wealth Management takes a comprehensive and in-depth approach to financial planning by first understanding the client's deepest needs and desires, then building a plan around that. Kirchenbauer is one of the few Registered Life Planners in the country through the Kinder Institute. She has been one of their trainers/mentors helping other advisors become Registered Life Planners.

The Financial Planning Association is based in Denver, Colorado. Kirchenbauer will serve on a board with 13 others. The FPA is member-driven organization focused on advocacy, continuing education, diversity and community outreach.

Lisa A. K. Kirchenbauer and Omega Wealth Management, LLC are based in Arlington, Virginia. Their purpose and passion are to positively and significantly impact their clients, community, and profession. They can be reached at <https://www.omegawealthmanagement.com/>
