

Local St. Charles County Small Business Donating Sanitizer to Local Polling Places

October 26, 2020

October 26, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

C.M. Products, a local family-owned business is pleased to announce that they have partnered with the St. Charles County Election Authority to help make the polling places safer this election season.

The St. Charles County Election Authority believes that the safety of voters in the county is of paramount importance, and the decision to use safer heavy-duty sanitation products to protect the community from sickness causing germs and bacteria will reduce the risk of spreading the COVID-19 virus.

C.M. Products now carries a powerful sanitizer called SaniPower+. They jumped at the chance to donate their sanitation product to fill enough sprayers for every polling place in St. Charles County. The Election Officials will have a bottle of our powerful sanitizer to use throughout the day on surfaces and in the air to ensure that they remain as safe as possible. The risk associated with large gatherings such as those likely to be found at polling places can be lessened greatly by using such powerful sanitizing products as SaniPower+.

SaniPower+ main ingredient is HOCL. HOCL (Hypochlorous acid) is an approved Sanitizer/Disinfectant by both the (CDC) Center for Disease Control and (WHO) World Health organization recognized for killing a harder-to-kill pathogen than SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19); an Emerging viral pathogen. The EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) has approved HOCL products to be effective against most known pathogens.

There has always been a fine line between the efficacy of a sanitizing product and its safety to the end-user. Products that are highly effective at eliminating pathogens (like bleach) can also pose environmental, health and safety concerns. More benign products, on the other hand, tend to be less effective and may give microbes the chance to develop immunity and become superbugs. A greener, safer, and more effective option, HOCL is ideal for residential, commercial and medical use. Find out more at www.SaniPowerPlusMidwest.com.

The St. Charles County Election Authority is working hard to ensure that voters are safe this election season. SaniPower+ is making it easier to mitigate the risks we all face. Find out more about the upcoming elections and how to vote at <https://www.sccmo.org/410/Election-Authority>.
