October 30, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

One of the most common occurrences that cause damage to a home is water damage. Water is very destructive and can leave stains, damage buildings, and encourages mold growth. Water ultimately creates unsafe living conditions that make the building unstable and the air quality poor. Mold can spread harmful bacteria that can make an entire family sick.

Luckily, the residents of Colorado Springs are safe from this problem because We Restore Water Damage is now offering 24/7 protection for water damage. This way local residents and business owners can be safe no matter what time it is. Their team answers the call quickly and arrives to the damaged area as fast as possible.

The company follows a really simple, yet reliable, three-step process that guarantees thorough restoration and complete protection from mold growth in the future. This process is what really makes the company stand out from the others. "We keep our solutions affordable and never sacrifice quality because we believe residents deserve the best service. Mold growth is dangerous and we take pride in helping property owners protect their health," the manager told us.

The process starts by assessing the damage. Their team of expert technicians will analyze the damaged area and thoroughly assess everything. They will look for the cause of the water damage and see how extensive the damage is. Most of the time, water damage isn't what it seems to the common person. Their professionals will be able to look at problems that most people don't know to look for in order to protect the property in the future.

Then, they will do water extraction and sanitization. "Once we have fully assessed the property we make sure all of the water is completely removed. This includes looking for any hidden standing water; we want to discourage the possibility of mold growth," the manager added.

As soon as the water is removed they will begin mold remediation in order to get rid of current mold and prevent mold growth in the future. This guarantees that the building is a healthy environment for everyone.

The final step is the restoration process. Once all of the water and mold is removed their team will begin to restore the property back to pre-disaster condition. They use advanced techniques and equipment in order to guarantee the damages are quickly repaired. After the restoration they will do one last sweep over the property to make sure no water or mold was missed.

We Restore Water Damage is the go-to water damage restoration company for a large percentage of the population in Colorado Springs. Water damage restoration isn't the only service that they specialize in. They can also help with storm damage repair, mold remediation, and fire damage repair.

Their team of technicians have a lot of experience in this field and they offer 24/7 emergency responses so local residents can rest assured that they won't have to stress about water damage in their home.
