

Walla Painting Explains Why Cabinet Painting Is the Way to Go

Walla Painting wants homeowners to understand that they have choices when it comes to providing a new look to their home interiors. The company is pleased to announce that it has released information that explains why cabinet painting is the way to go.

The main rooms in a house that most homeowners want to renew in some way are the kitchen and the bathroom. Most homeowners then start thinking about replacing the cabinets or at the very least, the cabinet doors. Then they look at replacing the backsplash and countertops and before long the potential cost has soared to the point that many homeowners will shelve the project due to cost.

Walla Painting explains that there is an alternative to that approach though, and that is to have the cabinets professionally painted. Some homeowners do think about painting instead but then make the mistake of trying to do it themselves.

It is not, however, anywhere near as simple or easy as some do it yourself enthusiasts think. Preparation is of paramount importance but often this is only dealt with in a cursory fashion as most enthusiasts want to get on with the painting so that they can see the finished result. Having put a first coat on, many DIY enthusiasts fall victim to the temptation to put a second coat on far too soon. Unfortunately, the finished result is rarely up to the standard desired. A professional is often then needed to make it good which means even more expense.

A kitchen refresh is a great way to give a completely new look to a room that is often one of the biggest selling points for a home. To refresh a kitchen well however, using a professional company specializing in that type of work is definitely the best approach and will prove cheaper in the long term.

Carmel, Indiana based Walla Painting has just such professionals with years of experience. The company's experts can not only provide an incredibly professional new look to kitchen or bathroom cabinets but can take on projects that would usually be well beyond the capabilities of the average DIY enthusiast. Projects such as painting the countertop and backsplash can make a kitchen take on an even better look than just doing the cabinets. Walla's skilled painters can even make a countertop look like stone or marble upon request.

Trina Depping, a recent customer of Walla Painting, said, "We were thinking about selling our house and obviously we wanted to get as much as we could for it. The kitchen really let the house down as it was rather old. We looked at gutting it and replacing the cabinets and work surfaces, but the cost was well beyond our budget. A friend suggested we try having it refreshed instead and recommended Walla Painting."

Jonathan Walla, owner of Walla Painting, said, "It comes as quite a nasty surprise to many homeowners just how expensive renovating a kitchen can be. Our guys can give a kitchen a makeover that can make a kitchen look like a whole new room. It is not just kitchens we do, of course. We do bathroom cabinets too and are happy to undertake any painting project required."

Ms. Depping went on to say, "Walla Painting came and looked at our kitchen and recommended a makeover that included the cabinets and the walls. The quote was good, so we went ahead with them. When they were finished, we could not believe just how good a job they did. It looked a whole new room."

Whether a homeowner is considering refreshing a kitchen or kitchen and bathroom or even considering the possibility of painting the whole house, Walla Painting can provide multi-faceted project advice and a free quotation for its services.
