November 24, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

SoftWasherz would like those in the Daphne, AL area to know that they are now offering a variety of different low-pressure spray cleaning services. This includes their popular and safe roof cleaning service. They are a company that realizes that the first thing somebody sees when approaching a home is the roof. They acknowledge that no matter how good the exterior of a home or its landscaping looks, that home will still not appear well-kempt if its roof is dull and stain covered. Their soft washing cleaning method greatly improves the looks of and will help extend the life of any home's roof.

The company owner, Pierce Parker, says, "One of the most overlooked areas when it comes to beautifying the outside appearance of any home is the roof. This is a shame because company's like mine have the equipment and know-how to enhance the exterior appearance of any home by getting its roof looking like new again."

Parker went on to add that although some companies do use higher pressure to clean roofs, that's not the pressure washing method that they prefer to use on them. This is especially true for shingle and shake style roof coverings whose delicate surface can easily be damaged by high-pressure washing. He added that their soft washing system is much safer because the environmentally-friendly chemicals that they use on a roof's surface are what actually does the cleaning. These chemicals are applied evenly across a roof's surface and allowed to do their magic for a few minutes before they are rinsed away using just a gentle and safe stream of water. The company owner says that their soft washing roof cleaning method also removes unsightly algae and other biomatter stains and deters it from growing back. He says this will also help prevent premature roof deterioration that is caused by such substances as mold, mildew, algae, Gloeocapsa Magma, moss, and lichens.

Parker went on to add that he recommends that only professionals such as them attempt to clean a roof. He says that's because working at height on a wet roof can be extremely dangerous. They have the knowledge, experience, and equipment to not only efficiently clean any roof without damaging it but they also know how to accomplish that task in the safest possible manner.

Those who have used SoftWasherz roof cleaning services have come away impressed with their work. Rita Roush stated, "Just used SoftWasherz for the first time. They were awesome! Not only were they professional, but they also arrived on time, worked the entire day, did a great job, and made sure everything was to our approval before they left. Will definitely use them again!" Lance Lewis wrote, "SoftWasherz did a great job on my roof, house, and concrete. Everything looks amazing! I'd highly recommend them and the work that they do." These reviews were taken from the company's Google Maps listing where they average an impressive 5 out of 5-star rating on the over 200 reviews that have been left on their services.

Parker says that they offer other very effective high- and low-pressure cleaning services too. This includes their exterior home washing service that uses a similar soft washing and chemical cleaning method as they use on roofs. Once again, he states that this leaves all types of siding looking like new without damaging the surface of it. Their high-pressure washing services also play an important role as far as greatly improving the looks of any home's exterior or its surrounding areas. The company owner says that their high-water pressure cleaning services are great for restoring the looks of tougher home exteriors such as stucco or brick and will also significantly brighten up concrete walkways, patios, and driveways. He says that they also do fleet cleaning, commercial building pressure washing, window cleaning, and pool deck area cleaning. They are also well-known for their deck cleaning & refinishing services and their thorough gutter cleaning work.

In addition to offering their highly rated services to those in Daphne, Alabama, Parker stated they also offer pressure washing Orange Beach and Fairhope services. The owner added that those who are interested in learning more about the different types of pressure washing tasks they do are welcome to call him or send him an email. He added that his 2015 Angie's List Silver Award Winning company offers free estimates, a 100% guarantee on their pressure washing services, and they are screened & approved for use by Home Advisor subscribers.
