Jacobs Low Price Auto Glass Welcomes Customer Searching For "Windshield Replacement Cost Near Me"

November 14, 2020

November 14, 2020 -
Jacobs Low Price Auto Glass, a Dallas based auto glass shop, is inviting customers looking for ?windshield replacement cost near me? online to browse its inventory and see if they can find a match for their requirements. The shop claims to have one of the largest in-shop inventories of auto glass.

The auto glass shop says its massive inventory is beneficial for its walk-in customers, as well of those that are just in need of quick repairs. The company says that due to its massive in-shop inventory, it?s likely they?ll already have the front or rear windshield customers need. This means that Jacob?s can often provide a same-day replacement.

The company understands that there is never a convenient time to have a windshield or car windows broken or damaged. It also acknowledges that customers might find it impossible to take the time out to get the car or truck into the shop. However, the company says, they shouldn?t risk their safety and those of their loved ones by driving around with a cracked or poorly installed windshield. The company says its goal is to help customers get them fixed quickly, professionally, and at a reasonable cost.

The company says that they work with all major insurance companies, for the customers that have their glass covered by insurance. They also say that in many cases, they are able to do the repairs for less than the cost of the driver?s deductible. The company assuages the fear of customers who think that the glass will look different after repair. They say that unless the customer has put on an aftermarket tint, their glass will look exactly the same. They make sure that the tint and shade are the same as the factory installation. They also say that if there are factory electronics, such as heated windshields, or built-in antennas, they will make sure the final repair includes them too.

According to the company, a damaged windshield is much more of a hazard than simply obscuring the view or becoming a distraction. Airbags are designed to deflect off the windshield. If that auto glass fails or pops out due to improper installation, drivers lose that vital protection. Furthermore, an intact windshield is an important part of a car?s structure, typically providing around half of the support strength in a rollover accident. In many cases, insurance companies insist on replacing a windshield rather than repairing it. If the windshield has cracks or chips near the edge of the windshield, cracks longer than a certain length, usually around 3 to 6 inches, cracks that radiate in several directions, or more than 2 or 3 cracks or chips, then it is recommended to get the windshield replaced.

Thomas, a spokesperson for the company says, ?Jacob?s is located south of downtown Dallas, and takes pride in providing high-quality replacements at the most affordable prices in the DFW area. If you need your windshield replaced, call Jacob?s Low Price Auto Glass. Jacob?s strives to be #1 in auto glass replacement in Dallas for quality, convenience, and cost. Your satisfaction is our top priority. For the very best in service, just call us for an appointment. We also welcome walk-ins. Our staff is experienced and highly trained. These windshield replacement technicians have all the latest techniques and tools. We provide them with whatever equipment and special tools needed for auto glass removal and replacement with no damage to your vehicle.?

Jacobs also provides mobile auto glass replacement in Dallas which means that for extra convenience and to save the customer time, they can visit the customer?s location, whether that?s at home or while they?re at work. That also saves the customer the hassle of arranging drop-off and pick-up. They assure that for off-site repairs, the vehicle will receive the same quality materials and workmanship as in their shop. Quick curing adhesives and sealants mean that the customer?s vehicle will be ready to drive about an hour after they?re done.
