November 20, 2020 -
Roof Works, a New Jersey roofing inspection and repair company, has recently opened a new location in the Jackson Township area. After a storm it is important for homeowners and building owners to have their roof?s inspected for signs of damage. Roof damage left unrepaired can result in more expensive repair costs later and potential interior damage. Roof Works 21-point storm damage roofing inspections provide expert technicians to carefully evaluate a homeowner?s roof and look for any signs of storm damage.

Company Representative, Leslie Steinman commented, ?At Pro Choice Roofing Deland, we are providing our storm damage inspection and repair services to help homeowners and building owners that were impacted from this summer's volatile storm season. Many homeowners are qualifying for brand new roofs from insurance because of the hail damage, and tornadic activity. Our mission is to make sure no homeowners get left out that are in need of roofing services.?

Homeowners and building owners may have a roof leak but are not aware it may be due to damage from the previous storms in the area. These homes and building owners may qualify for entire roof replacements from their insurance providers. This makes roof inspections even more crucial for homeowners.

A roof is a necessary component of any home and unfortunately, most homeowners don?t think about having their roofs inspected until there is a sign of damage, such as a leak. Being proactive and scheduling inspections, especially after a severe storm, can catch damage even before the homeowner realizes there is a problem.

Roof Works believe their company is uniquely qualified to provide excellent service to customers in the Jackson Township area because of their attention to detail and emphasis on customer satisfaction.

According to Company Representative, Leslie Steinman, ?From start to finish we emphasize white glove communication with our customers while offering premium grade materials with warranties. Our job is to make sure the roofs that we do lasts for years and doesn?t leak again in 3 to 4 years after putting on a brand-new roof.?

Roof Works has developed a strong reputation for quality work in their service areas. This is reflected in the many online reviews and ratings the company has received from past customer. Online reviews help potential new customers make the decision to work with a particular roofing company.

A Study that was carried out by BrightLocal shows that 91% of consumers between the age of 18 to 34 are big believers of online reviews, trusting them as much as personal recommendations. According to a 2016 report by PowerReviews, 82% of shoppers specifically seek out reviews.
