

EPS Landscaping & Tree Service Publishes Blog Highlighting Retainer Walls In Fort Lauderdale Landscape Design

November 30, 2020

Pembroke Pines, Florida - November 30, 2020 -
EPS Landscaping & Tree Service, a company that?s based out of the Pembroke Pines, FL area, has just released a new blog that talks about the many benefits that Fort Lauderdale property owners get from adding retaining walls into their landscape design. This information is very relevant to Florida homeowners because of the shifting soil conditions that are found on many properties during periods of extremely wet weather. That?s why landscaping retainer walls are being installed on a much bigger scale than ever before in all parts of Florida including those that EPS Landscaping & Tree Service LLC provides landscaping services for. This is just one of the many blogs that this company has posted as a means to help their customers make more informed decisions when it comes to their landscaping choices.

The company spokesperson, Greg O'Connell, says, ?These days it seems like most homes and businesses in Fort Lauderdale and the other Broward County communities that we serve have at least one type of retaining wall on that property. We here at EPS Landscaping & Tree Service certainly feel that?s a good thing. This is because retaining walls are a very essential means in Florida at holding soil in place during times of extremely wet weather. That is especially true as you get closer to the water's edge where trees do not grow as big so there is less natural root structure in place to keep soil where it?s needed. Our newest blog discusses this and the other important reasons why people should consider adding retaining walls into their landscaping designs.?

In the new blog post, it started by saying that retaining walls are one of the best ways to prevent soil erosion. It explained that this is because retaining walls do a great job of providing structural support to hold soil in place in areas on a lawn that otherwise would not have that. This is particularly important for ground that is especially uneven or sloped. These areas would probably remain almost unusable if there was no retaining wall to keep the soil in place. According to this latest EPS Landscaping & Tree Service article, retaining walls also help make yard maintenance easier and can be assembled in such a way that they perfectly complement the looks of any landscape.

O'Connell went on to say that they are one of the most well-rounded companies in the Broward County area when it comes to performing services that enhance the looks, health, and functionality of any residential or commercial property?s landscape. In addition to designing and building retaining walls, they also offer such services as swimming pool landscaping, tree trimming, tree removal, irrigation installation as well as doing a variety of lawn maintenance services such as mowing.

Another landscaping specialty that the company is well-known for is installing landscape lighting. This landscaping task was also featured in a recent press release in which the focus was on the importance of lighting in landscape design. This press release expressed that some at the company feel that landscape lighting is one of the most overlooked aspects of landscaping design. They say that?s a shame because well-thought-out and properly placed landscape lighting can extend the beautiful looks of any home?s yard into the evening hours. It also helps create the perfect mood and setting for outdoor dining, parties, barbeques, and more.

This landscaping and tree service provider?s customers also have been very impressed with the work that the company has done for them. A testament to that is this 5-star review taken from the company?s Google Maps Listing. In this review, Gina Maria Marin stated, ?I called EPS Landscaping and Tree Service to trim my palms ahead of the last tropical storm. Not only do my palms look fantastic, but I also didn?t have to be out after the storm picking anything up from my yard. The team was knowledgeable and courteous, and customer service is exceptional. Greg and Jessica will take care of you the right way!?
