

Lawn And Leaf Bag With Gardening Gloves Launched

September 21, 2015

September 21, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Wholeness Home, a business in Pasadena, CA, has launched their latest lawn and leaf bag bundle that includes two pop up leaf bags and a pair of gardening gloves. This means that all of the things needed for clearing up a lawn are met in one simple solution.

"Growing up in the midwest, Saturday morning in the fall always meant helping dad with the leaves on the lawn," says Annie French from Wholeness Home. "Wholeness Home found two great products to get the job done and decided to create a bundle to make lawn care a little easier. Once the leaves are gathered (and regathered after the obligatory jumping in the leaf pile!) cleanup is so much easier with these pop up 39 gallon bags. They hold their shape and can be used over and over again."

Standard leaf bags can be difficult to fill by one person working alone while pop up bags can generally only hold one type of lawn waste. In addition, these bags require regular emptying, which means a gardening job will take a relatively longer time to complete.

However, the set from Wholeness Home actually contains two separate collapsible leaf bags. This means that there is no need to stop working and empty out a small container in the middle of the project. The gardening gloves are included so once you get the item shipped to your door via Amazon.com's superfast shipping, you are set to go, no rummaging around to find last season's gloves or leftover bags.

Each collapsible leaf bag is fully reusable and it folds down easily for quick and compact storage. It takes up minimal space when folded flat and therefore can easily be stored in a garden shed or even in a cupboard inside the garage. It is made from very strong and durable material. Many consumers have found a great second use for the pop up leaf bag by taking it to picnics and parties and using it as a temporary trash container. The bags when they are folded flat are very easy to throw in your trunk on the way to an event. Lightweight and easy to carry, it can be brought along during outdoor activities.

The cotton gardening gloves are lightweight and offer protection from scrapes and chafes of outdoor work. The company is offering a "nearly fall" sale of 35% off. This means the bundle can be purchased for under $26, a great deal considering the individual bags frequently sell for $17 each.
