October 22, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Moorpark, CA business Rooter Hero Plumbing of Ventura County is proud to offer state-of-the-art, electronic slab leak detection services. Electronic leak detection is the most reliable technology in the industry for detecting hidden leaks faster than any previous method. This innovative service is also budget-friendly, minimizing local residents' out of pocket costs.

"Our slab leak detection services seek out broken, leaking, and clogged pipes that are hidden from view," says Rooter Hero Plumbing's spokesperson, Jessica Perrault. "Our honest and professional plumbers are the best at using the latest technology to find underground pipe leaks and make immediate repairs. Access to and knowledge of electronic equipment helps us find leaks with 100% accuracy, so our customers don't have to worry about being charged for services they don't need."

Finding hidden leaks can be incredibly difficult. However, finding even the smallest leak early can prevent significant damage that these leaks have the potential to cause to a home's foundation. This is why it is so important that the right tools are used by properly licensed and qualified plumbers. Rooter Hero Plumbing takes slab leak detection in Ventura County, CA, very seriously. Waiting for leak detection services and subsequent repairs can increase a homeowner's cost and have serious side effects to the structural integrity of a home. The company offers this service 24 hours a day, seven days a week, including holidays.

Another advantage of electronic leak detection is that any associated mess is minimal. With other detection methods, plumbers used to have to jackhammer concrete surfaces. Electronic methods avoid this expensive and messy process. In addition to electronic detection methods, Rooter Hero Plumbing plumbers also have the ability to use video camera technology to identify leaks and clogs. Once leaks are identified the repair process will begin immediately.

"Finding leaks underneath a property's foundations is just the beginning," emphasizes Perrault. "Once the problem has been identified, it has to be fixed. Our expert technicians from all over Ventura County can achieve this. In the majority of cases, they can even fix these types of problems without ever having to dig to access the pipes. Our top priority is to make sure each and every one of our customers' foundations are safe, secure, and 100% dry."

Perrault encourages anyone in the area who suspects they may have a hidden leak to contact the company right away. Homeowners can request information by filling out a contact form on the website at <https://rooterhero.com/ventura-county/> or by calling an associate directly at 805-585-5053.
