November 30, 2020 -
TruShine Services, a commercial cleaning company based in Atlanta, GA, has recently announced the launch of their new website. The new site updates the previous site's look-and-feel while announcing a new suite of services that the company is now offering. Primarily known for their restaurant and kitchen cleaning, TruShine is expanding its offerings to Atlanta restauranteurs by providing the city's best hood cleaning service. The website, developed by Alex Laldin, will make it easy for customers to contact TruShine.

When asked about the new site, founder and CEO Carlos Tavarez had this to say, "We are so excited to launch our new site and push TruShine forward. Most importantly, we have focused on potential customers and their needs. We understand the crazy schedules and immense pressure that restaurateurs are under, especially during this COVID-19 time. If potential clients view our site, we understand that means something simply is not working within their business. Our team is here to help you manage your restaurant operations and get back to what is important, running your kitchen. We understand the hours that chefs and restauranteurs keep. That's why you can contact us via our new website 24 hours a day, 7 days a week."

TruShine Services is best known for its commercial kitchen and hood cleaning services. When it comes to hood cleaning in commercial kitchens, Atlanta's best trust TruShine. The company is certified, insured, and each technician is trained according to NFPA Code 96 standards. Simply put, TruShine does what others don't. Their hood cleaning service includes cleaning the entire exhaust system, the hood, the fan, filters, and ducts to NFPA code 96 standards, clean to bare metal, fan belt replacement, and greasing of motor bearings. There is not another service in Atlanta that matches TruShine's attention to detail.

When asked about what makes TruShine an industry leader, Tavarez gave this statement, "Our mission is to change the industry. Building trust, going above and beyond expectations. Our services are meant to meet and exceed that commitment and add more value to our customer relationship, monitoring our services for a continuous process of improvement. We are here to serve our customers, employees, community, states, and countries. from the bottom of my heart, thank you."
