December 04, 2020 -

SafeAir Certified Mold Inspection Inc., an Atlanta GA, based mold inspection and testing company, has been reviewed as one of the top indoor air quality companies in the city. The local company, owned and operated by Jeremy Shelton, an indoor air quality expert, has provided Atlanta with mold inspections for nearly ten years. With decades of experience and the latest equipment, it is no surprise that Atlanta homeowners continue to turn to SafeAir for all of their inspection needs.

In a recent review the company received on their Google My Business Profile, repeat customer Christopher Cestero had this to say, "Safe Air is amazing! I have come across multiple issues in the past, and Jeremy has always answered his phone. I have always been scheduled immediately at the first phone call. Jeremy's Safe Air mold testing has saved us more than once, the test results come back within a matter of a couple of days, and he has gone to extra lengths and helped assisted in protocols. After Jeremy explains an incredibly detailed protocol to follow, we always have him come back out a second time to be certain the bacteria is completely gone! Thanks so much! I recommend Safe Air to all of my friends and family! Jeremy has explained the dangers of not knowing what is growing in your home. If I could scream GET A TEST DONE to the entire world, I would. Thanks again, SafeAir!!!"

SafeAir is one of the only mold inspection and testing companies with more than 100 5 Star Reviews. Reviews from customers like Mr. Cestero are a testament to the company's commitment to its customers. In another recent review, Rob Hileman said, "I used SafeAir for indoor air quality sampling, and infrared moisture inspection, and my experience was very positive. Jeremy was very pleasant and accommodated all of my requests. He was also thorough in explaining to me what he was testing for and how I could interpret the results. I absolutely recommend SafeAir and will use them in the future should I have a need for their services."

In this COVID-19 time, homeowners spend more and more time at home, meaning knowing what's in the air they're breathing becomes even more critical. Phone consultations are free, and the information provided may be life-saving.
