

EPS Landscaping & Tree Service Announces Tree Removal in Pembroke Pines Florida

December 11, 2020

Pembroke Pines, Florida - December 11, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

EPS Landscaping & Tree Service LLC is pleased to announce that they are offering tree removal service in Pembroke Pines and other neighboring areas in Broward County, Florida. They offer various kinds of tree services. These include tree planting services, tree trimming, tree removal, and tree care services. Pembroke Pines is one of the top family outdoor destinations in Broward County and it is only a few miles away from Fort Lauderdale. Tree removal is one of the basic needs for homeowners in Florida because of the prevalence of storms that can damage trees, not to mention various kinds of tree diseases. Diseased trees can easily fall over during a storm and possibly cause damage to the home or even hurt people.

Greg O'Connell, a spokesperson for EPS Landscaping & Tree Service LLC, says, ?As beautiful and beneficial as trees are, you may need a tree felling service. For example, you should remove a dead or infected tree if the issue has progressed past one or two limbs (which can affect the structural integrity). If the tree has gotten too big, you may also want to remove it. You may also consider removing a tree if you're renovating your house. Some construction equipment can damage your tree or block access to your home. A tree cutting service can help you prepare for land clearing and construction.?.

Tree removal is not just for trees that are diseased or damaged. Some trees that are perfectly healthy may need to be removed. These are trees that are not actually suitable for cities and heavily populated areas. These are trees with roots that are too widespread that they may even reach the neighbor's property. They may also reach underground structures and may cause damage. Such trees have to be removed from a property before they start to cause problems.

EPS Landscaping & Tree Service LLC can also offer tree planting services. This can be done either through tree installation or tree relocation. These are important services because having a tree in the yard can add some color and beauty to the landscape. And trees freshen the air by absorbing carbon dioxide and releasing oxygen. What is important here is knowing where to place the trees. For instance, it is advisable to avoid locating trees close to the house or just below power lines. While such locations may be fine at the start, the tree's roots will grow and possibly affect the house structure or they may come dangerously close to the power lines as they become taller. Tree experts from EPS are knowledgeable as to the right places for trees.

Tree relocation may be required by those who are moving to another home. Relocating a tree is not a simple task and will also require the help of tree experts to avoid damaging the tree. They have the experience and the right tools for moving a tree safely to the new location.

Tree trimming has the purpose of ensuring that the trees remain beautiful and healthy. Trimming a tree can enhance the beauty of a tree and also provide balance, since trees tend to grow asymmetrically. It may also be vital to reduce the density of the leaves and branches of the tree crown to allow sunshine to better reach those under it. Thick branches can also prevent rain and sunshine from reaching the plants below the tree. It is also important to get rid of dead or rotting branches, especially those that are diseased. These branches are likely to have been severely weakened and may fall down anytime, possibly causing damage to the property or hurt people.

They also offer stump grinding and removal services. The most common reason for this is to enhance the landscaping. Tree stumps are eyesores and they may even be dangerous for kids playing in the yard.
