The Long Island DWI lawyer urges those arrested for a DWI/DUI in Suffolk County to get in touch immediately so that experienced attorneys can begin working on their case immediately. Notably, members of the community are welcome to request a free initial consultation. During this consultation, the firm will help them evaluate their options and understand legal implications of the charges they may be facing.

According to Jason Bassett of the Bassett Law Offices, the holiday season gives many people an excellent reason to celebrate. While many will drink responsibly and avoid operating heavy machinery, driving their vehicles or otherwise placing themselves in dangerous situations, this is not always the case. Law enforcement officers know this as well, and therefore are extremely keen to apprehend any inebriated drivers who pose a risk to themselves or other motorists on the road. The issue, however, arises when they arrest drivers who are innocent in the eyes of the law.

?There are a number of reasons why you could be mistakenly arrested for a DWI/DUI,? says Bassett, ?but what you should understand is that the consequences of a DWI/DUI conviction can be severe, and they can last for a lifetime even if this happens to be your first offence. We encourage you to get in touch as soon as you can if you are arrested under these circumstances because you will need all the help you can get navigating the legal system and ensuring that you receive the best outcome possible.? Without a lawyer, anyone accused of drunk driving may be effectively taking on the legal system alone. The danger of this lies in the fact that drivers who otherwise are convinced of their innocence may nonetheless come to believe that pleading guilty is their only option, thereby they may receive the maximum sentence. Fortunately, this does not need to be the case, and anyone has been arrested should seek immediate assistance from a top DWI lawyer. This legal aid extends to a variety of cases, including Driving While Intoxicated (Alcohol and/or Drug), Driving While Ability Impaired or any DWI/DUI-related charge in Suffolk County, Long Island.

One of the foremost benefits of approaching the Bassett Law Offices is that a potential client will have their case evaluated by an experienced attorney, who will also be able to explain the process to them in full. Jason Bassett is one of the most accomplished DWI lawyers on Long Island, and this makes him an excellent resource for those who need a breakdown of every available option they may pursue. With decades of experience behind him, Bassett has an innate understanding of the local Suffolk County system and what it takes to ensure a client?s charges are reduced or dismissed altogether.
