December 23, 2020 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Community bloggers in Plano, TX are talking about news that the biggest and most anticipated Christmas event in town is getting a 2020 digital makeover.

As the post linked to above mentions, the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic has caused Plano's annual Dickens holiday event to be moved online completely. An article published by the Dallas Morning News on November 30th says, "Christmas celebrations will be different this year during the COVID-19 pandemic, as Plano's annual Dickens in Downtown festival has been canceled and other events have been curtailed. But the city has lined up a series of virtual events to help keep residents in the holiday spirit, including a series of "Dickens Holiday Countdown" sessions this week leading up to an online edition of the festival, complete with a virtual tree lighting, on Saturday."

The Community Impacts article, which features a list of holiday events in and around Plano, published on November 27th, also mentioned the event's change to an online venue. The article reads, "In absence of the annual Dickens in Downtown celebration in Plano this year, a week of virtual events will take place on Facebook, including events like Creative S'mores, Meet a Toy Maker and Chainsaw Ice Carving. The week will end with a virtual tree lighting ceremony Dec. 5 at 6:15 p.m. More information can be found on the Plano Arts and Events Facebook page."

A representative for Bobby Jivnani Plano Dental, which wrote the community linked to at the outset remarks, "COVID-19 has really made us reconsider the way we do so many things in life, and while it is a true shame that we can't come together to enjoy the Dickens holiday event as it used to be celebrated, we are very happy to see that they haven't completely discarded the event. By adapting and taking the event online, the residents of Plano can still join in and take part in the festivities while staying safe at the same time. This is not the time to celebrate out in the streets, so this is a move to be commended, no doubt, and we hope that something similar will be done with other similar events around the country so that we don't have to sacrifice our holiday cheer to stay safe."

Bobby Jivnani Plano Dental has earned the trust of their patients in the time since they first opened their doors, as is made evident by their 5-Star rating (from over 230 reviews). In a recent review, Penny Peterson says "Rahsa the hygienist is a rock star. I have never been thanked for getting my teeth cleaned. She's very gentle and gets my teeth done without pain and in a timely manner. Can't say enough good about her!!! My daughter and I both have seen Dr. J. (Dr. Jivnani) and Dr. M. (Dr. Meenal) both are so patient and listen to what we have to say and our concerns. Treatment is planned and there is no pressure. It's discussed and planned in a timely manner that I am able to do. They will be our dentist for life."

Meanwhile in another review, Lakeeta Prunty writes, "My children have been coming to this office since they were 6 months old and 2 years old. They are now teenagers. The office provides exceptional customer service and care for my children. I would recommend them to everyone. They are always willing to answer my questions. They also make my children feel comfortable. Paula is awesome! Dr. Jivnani is very caring and patient. The whole staff is great!"
