The clinic, run by Dr. Andrew Vernon, would like to emphasize the fact that dental bridges are a non-invasive method of replacing a missing tooth. It is an ideal solution for those who do not want to undergo dental implant surgery and has been in existence for nearly as long as dentures have. According to Reason 2 Smile Dental, a missing tooth can cause discomfort while chewing food. It can also be embarrassing when one is talking, laughing or even smiling. More importantly, it can affect the health of a person's remaining teeth.

When a tooth is pulled from the jaw at root level, it can slowly cause the jawbone to lose bone mass, and remaining teeth may shift towards the gap where the missing tooth should have been. Eventually, this can cause maligned teeth, which affects one jaw and even the shape of the face (in most cases, not for the better). As replacing a tooth is important, dental bridges are an ideal option for those who cannot or do not want to undergo dental implants. Learn more here: <https://yelp.com/biz/reason-2-smile-dental-salt-lake-city-2>.

There are several types of dental bridges. Traditional bridges are used to fill a gap that is flanked by two adjacent teeth, and the prosthetic tooth is supported by two abutments on either side. Fixed bridges are often used for the front teeth. Cantilever bridges are used to replace a missing tooth at the back of the mouth, and the tooth bridge only needs one abutment for support. The clinic goes on to explain the many benefits that come with choosing dental bridges to repair teeth.

Bridges help keep the teeth properly aligned as they act as placeholders for missing teeth. With a pontic, otherwise known as a prosthetic or false tooth, taking the place of the missing tooth, the other teeth are forced to stay in place and maintain their proper alignment. A dental bridge also makes it easier for a person to chew. Chewing with missing teeth is difficult and most people will chew from the opposite side or one might find food getting stuck in the gap. A dental bridge will restore normal function to the mouth and help maintain oral health. As mentioned previously, it would also improve the aesthetics of a person's face. Dental bridges are also non-invasive, which is ideal for most people. Patients who come to Reason 2 Smile Dental can rest assured that their treatment will be handled by Dr. Vernon and his team after a thorough dental exam. One can expect a high quality and tailored treatment in the care of Dr. Vernon.
