New Jersey Moving Company Now Services Even More Areas

September 17, 2015

September 17, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Wanna Move It, a moving company in Clifton, NJ, has announced the addition of more service areas across the state of New Jersey. Having already established itself as one of the best moving companies in the Clifton area, they have now expanded their services to target far more of the state. All services offered by the company, as seen on <http://www.wannamoveit.com>, are provided in those areas.

"We felt it was time to expand," says Daniel King from Wanna Move It. "We have already been working on long distance moves anyway, so it seemed counterproductive to only offer our services to people in the Clifton area. While we already had some clients just outside of this area, we have now expanded even further and essentially cover almost all of New Jersey."

The company is known for its professionalism and versatile services. All their staff are highly trained and very friendly. They understand how stressful a move can be and go out of their way to make sure people feel comfortable and can actually enjoy most of their move.

In terms of versatility, the company offers far more than simply moving belongings from one location to the other. They also offer heavy lifting, spring cleaning and even some DIY services. Furthermore, the company also provides secure storage, so that people who have a period of time between moving out of one property and into another one are able to retain their belongings in a secure and safe location.

"Storage is such a vital service for any moving company," adds Daniel King. "It is actually very rare that someone packs up one house and moves into the next one the very same day. Because we offer secure storage, our clients no longer have to worry about arranging that separately, incurring double removal costs as well. Plus, it is easier on the body as well, as they don't have to load and unload multiple times."

New Jersey communities have welcomed Wanna Move It's expansion across the state. This is something the company takes great pride in, as it means their focus on customer service is paying off.
