December 21, 2020 -
Express STD Testing now offering anonymous oral herpes test services.

Oral herpes is a common STD that affects the mouth and lips. Some people who have oral herpes do not have symptoms and some that have them confuse them for other infections. The only way a person can know if they are infected is to get tested. This is why Express STD testing is offering accurate oral herpes tests.

According to the company, ?All our testing centers use a modern test to screen for oral herpes. This is a CLIA test that is certified and screens for antibodies created by the body to combat the herpes simplex virus. The test uses a small blood sample which means you will not have to undress or go through the uncomfortable swab process. Our tests are highly accurate with a 97% specificity and 96% sensitivity rate.?

The company also added, ?Now is the best time to get tested for oral herpes. Knowing your status puts you in control of your sexual health. If you have recently engaged in sexual contact with someone whose status you are not aware of, it?s time to get that STD test. You should test after 4 to 6 weeks after potential exposure to oral herpes. You also need to test after three months to confirm the results. If you decide to get tested, it is a good idea to get the comprehensive STD test which will screen for 10 most common sexually transmitted diseases. This is because having one infection puts you at risk of other infections.?
