Dallas, TX-based Advanced Skin Fitness Medical Spa & CoolSculpting Center is reaching out to share their perspective of a recent DART derailment that occurred in Dallas. Complete details about the incident can be found in an article published on Advanced Skin Fitness? community blog.

A DART train derailed in downtown Dallas on December 19, causing minor injuries to two passengers. According to a DART spokesman, the incident happened at around 1:15 PM when the northbound Orange line train made contact with a southbound Green line train at the St. Paul Station. The injured passengers were given medical attention, and DART officials have been cooperating with local authorities to find out what caused the derailment. Fortunately, the shuttle service was not affected.

As a top-quality medical spa that offers skin revitalization, anti-aging treatments, body contouring, acne scar removal, low testosterone treatment, laser hair removal and hair restoration, the beauty specialist considers it their duty to stay in touch with recent news that affects their community. Since they have no direct ties to this particular event, they simply wish the two injured individuals a speedy recovery. In the future, however, they assert that their community can rely on their assistance where possible.

Today, clients are familiar with Advanced Skin Fitness for the high quality of their treatments, which are highly effective ? and performed by skilled technicians who use leading techniques and state-of-the-art equipment. Advanced Skin Fitness performs treatments and procedures in a day spa environment that allows patients to stay relaxed as they are pampered and serviced via modern devices that can dramatically improve their skin, body and hair. They also provide a wide range of technologically advanced laser and radio frequency treatments. Many of their treatments are non-invasive and non-surgical, which means that most of the procedures can be done in short periods of time. They promise quick and amazing results with little to no downtime that are achieved with comfortable procedures and minimum aftercare.

Advanced Skin Fitness prides itself on pioneering new techniques as a body contouring medspa. They provide body contouring treatments that include CoolSculpting, Vanquish Fat Removal, vShape RF, ZWave and VelaShape 3 Elos technology. These treatments and devices provide the fastest results with the least downtime out of all the procedures currently on the market. A combination of these treatments can be used to achieve permanent fat removal, body contouring, cellulite reduction and circumferential reduction of the thighs and abdomen.

It is said that dieting and exercises are the guaranteed solutions to losing weight, but some may find that the innumerable hours they spend in the gym and the reductions they make to their calorie consumption still fail to lead to the figure they want. This may be because of some other factors that are working against them. Some may have genes that cause their body to store fat improperly, burn energy at slower rates or have a larger appetite, for instance. Advanced Skin Fitness offers their fat reduction and body contouring services to help people achieve their body goals.

Advanced Skin Fitness has received great reviews for their services. Lourie Lindsey says in a 5-Star Google review, "I am so happy with the changes and improvements I have had with the treatments at Advanced Skin Fitness. The improvements were visible almost immediately and just keep getting better. I had been considering doing CoolSculpting for some time. I had more fat on the left side of my neck than the right so my double chin was really uneven. During my consultation with William, he suggested Ultherapy, CoolSculpting and Microneedling to help my aging face. All I can say is he was right! I am so excited to know that I still have six weeks of improvement left from the Ultherapy, and it will last for a year. The staff is great. I am so glad that I started the treatments, and just as happy to have found Advanced Skin Fitness!?"

David Weir similarly says, "As a medical professional, when I want to have an aesthetic procedure, I require someone who is an expert in their field and has proof of excellent results. Bill Moore at Advanced Skin Fitness provides excellent service, countless years of experience and a skilled eye for beauty. Bill has completed several different procedures on me, and I have always been pleased with the results. I trust him to reign me in when I ask for something that will make me look unnatural, and I am always open to his opinion about other services that will help boost my look."
