Revitalize You MD, which is based in Roswell, GA, has announced that they now offer the P-Shot or platelet rich plasma (PRP) penile injection for sexual dysfunction. For this P-Shot, plasma-enriched growth factors are harvested from the patient's blood and then injected into certain areas of the penis. The PRP will then stimulate blood flow and the penis will become rejuvenated and larger. Sexual activity can be resumed within just four hours after the procedure has been completed.

Rachael Clark, Director of Operations at Revitalize You MD, says, "PRP therapy is one of the latest and most advanced natural treatments to provide cellular repair and rejuvenation for various parts of the body. It has been initially used in sports injuries, dentistry, and in wound healing. It is now being applied to treat sexual dysfunction and it has indeed demonstrated to offer benefits in this area. It has also been found to decrease or even get rid of the extreme penile curvature resulting from Peyronie's disease."

The P-Shot procedure starts with drawing a small quantity of blood from the arm and then spinning it in a centrifuge for approximately 10 minutes. This will separate the PRP from the platelet-poor plasma. The PRP is then injected into the penis to provide male enhancement and enhanced sexual function. Some of the benefits observed with the P-Shot are: increased overall size of the penis; substantially firmer erections; ability to easily achieve and maintain erections for a longer period of time; and enhanced sensitivity and improved overall blood flow in the penis. Those who would like to know more about this procedure and other services may want to go to their Facebook page.

It is important to note that there are very few potential side effects from the P-Shot because the PRP came from the patient himself. It is possible that there could be minor bruising, swelling, or bleeding. Infection may occur although very rare. Meanwhile, it is possible to maximize the impact of PRP therapy through the use of a vacuum erection device (VED), which should be performed twice a day.

Revitalize You MD is a provider of customized anti-aging medical services. They have established as their mission to enhance the health span of their patients by addressing the chronic conditions that are related with the aging process. Aside from the P-Shot, they also offer hormone replacement therapy, Botox, IV therapy, weight loss, and Juvederm.

Hormone replacement therapy (HRT) is available for both men and women. For men, HRT is used for andropause, which is when men experience a decline in their testosterone levels. This usually occurs in men with ages 40 to 55 but it may also occur in men in their mid to late 30s. Symptoms of andropause include increased fatigue, decrease in energy levels, erectile dysfunction, low sex drive, decreased muscle mass and strength, depression, and lack of mental focus. Testosterone therapy for men will include regular office visits, initial, follow-up blood panels done at regular intervals, and recurring medication.

For women, HRT is for hormonal imbalance, which usually occurs in women in their late 30s and beyond. At Revitalize You MD, the HRT solutions offered are personalized based on a patient's particular symptoms and circumstances. The usual symptoms of hormonal imbalance in women include: foggy memory; persistent weight gains; muscle loss; lack of sexual desire; excessive and unexpected sweating; vaginal dryness; and growing and consistent fatigue.

Revitalize You MD also offers intravenous (IV) therapy for delivering vitamins, minerals, amino acids, and other nutrients directly into the bloodstream to treat intracellular nutrient deficiencies. IV therapy offers the advantage of a more effective and efficient way to rehydrate and deliver nutrients to the body. This is because it is a way to bypass the gastrointestinal tract. Orally administered fluids take a much longer time to reach the cells of the body that require the fluids and nutrients.

Those who are interested in learning more about the P-Shot and other services provided at Revitalize You MD may want to check out their website, or contact them on the telephone or through email. They are
