Justin Parat, a representative for Excel Restoration Service Inc., says, "No matter what part of the country you live in, no matter what type of building you own, the unfortunate truth is that your home or business is just as susceptible to water damage as any other, and water damage is terrible. That is why it's important to have a reliable, professional water damage restoration company that you can contact, one that knows what to do in order to give you the best results when it comes to fixing the current water damage and preventing any further fallout. At Excel, we guarantee that our water damage restoration services can restore your property to its pre-loss condition."

Whether due to heavy storms that strike unexpectedly or simply an accident or burst pipe, all types of buildings, from residential homes to commercial offices, are vulnerable to water damage. More often than not, water damage is not immediately noticed and will have spread a fair amount and done significant damage before being discovered. It can be especially devastating because, in addition to affecting the walls, floors and ceiling of a particular building and leading to hazardous mold growth, it can also cause permanent structural damage to the building if not dealt with in a timely manner.

Excel Restoration Service Inc.'s team of experts know how to respond effectively and efficiently when it comes to dealing with water damage. They use advanced techniques coupled with top of the line, industry-standard equipment to ensure that water is removed as quickly as possible before it does any further damage. In addition, the team will also document the drying process to make sure that the property is thoroughly dried and that the owners have detailed information for their insurance claim.

The services provided by Excel Restoration Service Inc. have allowed the company to establish themselves as a trustworthy water damage restoration service in Illinois. On their Google profile alone, the water damage company in McHenry maintains a full 5-Star rating, with a recent review by Michele Dubach reading, "Excel was recommended to me by my realtor. I spoke with Justin, the owner. He was very professional. Branden, his technician, was out the next day to help repair wood stairs in a home we were getting ready to list. Branden was very friendly and knowledgeable. I would use their services again in the future."

In another review, Katie Shaykin writes, "Excel Restoration was like a calming force on one of our worst days. We had a pipe blockage that flooded a large portion of our home, and my husband and I were overwhelmed by the amount of water and damage. We called Excel, and literally 20 minutes later, they had an entire cleanup crew there to help us clean up the mess and make it safe for us to live in our home again. But what's more, they helped us along the entire way, providing resources and advocating for us. We were blown away by their professionalism and care with our home. Heck, they even lined the items they put on our non-damaged walls with towels so they didn't scratch anything! Top notch, trustworthy service through and through. Please don't ever go through water or fire damage without them!"
