January 12, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Zia Tile, a handmade, artisanal tile designer located in Los Angeles, CA that serves clientele across the globe, has announced a new partnership with Bliss Drive to help spread the word about their renowned lines of beautiful cement tiles and Moroccan zellige. Bliss Drive, a results-driven, strategic digital marketing company, with offices in Irvine, CA and Los Angeles, CA specializes in providing a comprehensive suite of marketing services for a wide range of business niches.

Founded in 2015, Zia Tile began with the mission of making beautiful, handmade, artisanal tile accessible to everyone. Nowadays, Zia Tile is proud to say that they've been able to follow that mission, working with designers, contractors, developers, and homeowners nationwide and across the globe on projects of all sizes.

Zia Tile is best known for their two specialty types of tile: artisanal handmade cement tiles and their handmade moroccan zellige. According to the Zia Tile site, "each tile is made by hand and no two tiles are exactly the same. Variation in cement tile and zellige is the point! All of our styles will have subtle variations due to the handmade nature of cement and zellige tile."

On their respective pages, Zia Tile goes into further detail about each of their tiles. Zia Tile's "encaustic cement tiles come in a multitude of colors, shapes, and sizes. We hand pour and press all of our cement tiles, with a wide range of both patterned and solid designs available in a variety of forms, including hexagonal tiles, diamond tiles, subway tiles, and square tiles." Interested readers can view samples of the encaustic, handmade cement tiles by clicking here.

On the Zia Tile Moroccan Zellige Page, readers can learn more about Zia Tile's line of moroccan zellige tiles, which are "handmade in Morocco using a traditional method passed down by generations of artisans."
