July 21, 2021 -

Reputable roofing contractor, Straight Arrow Roofing, has just received a glowing review that lauded their efforts when applying leak prevention materials to a customer?s roof. The customer stated that they were so pleased with the results of this work, they would hire the company to handle any future roofing needs they require to be done. It?s this type of effort on all of their projects which have kept this Hamilton, Ontario roofer?s services so in-demand.

In the review discussed above, T. Siek, wrote, ?Contacted these guys to do some repairs to our flashing. They were courteous, took the time to explain what they?d be doing, completed the job quickly, and even spent the time necessary to tidy up after the job. We would highly recommend them and intend to contact them for future projects around our house!?

The company founder, Joel Guerra, responded by saying, ?My team and I are meticulous when it comes to leak proofing the roofs that we work on. This is because we fully realize the drastic nature of the problems that can result if we don?t do this job the right way. Even a small roof leak can eventually lead to some big problems around a home. This includes such damage as rotting a home?s wooden support structure, that which results from extensive mold and mildew buildup, and damage to the contents inside of a home. That?s why we take all the time necessary to lay down leak prevention materials the right way and why we only use high-quality flashing, sealants, and other materials when doing this type of roofing work.? The customer review from above was taken from the company?s Google My Business listing where they average a commendable 4.7 out of a possible 5-star rating on over 60 reviews.

Another roofing area where this company excels is whole roof replacements. That type of service has also been praised by those who have had Straight Arrow Roofing do this roofing job for them. DusKeyOwl stated in his Straight Arrow Roofing customer review, ?Joel and his team are worthy of the praise they receive. A roofing specialist that is constantly looking to improve your roof replacement experience. Very detail-oriented and informative.Very pleasant to deal with. Professional. He doesn't cut corners, goes well above the average, and most certainly exceeded my expectations. A detailed inspection upon completion to assure you your roof is watertight as well as showing you the exceptional details he expects from his finished product. Highly recommended.?

Guerra went on to say that re-roofing a home is another job where his crew makes sure that they pay attention to even the smallest details of the project. Whole roof replacements consist of them stripping a roof down to its sheathing and then putting a new roof covering down. He mentioned that their crews enjoy doing this type of work because when finished, the roof will look great and be as watertight as when the home was first built.

Other well-reviewed services that this company performs beside their quality roofing work include their eavestrough and downspout repair and replacement services. Guerra mentioned that they also can enhance the looks of any home?s exterior by installing new siding on it. Their customers can choose between a wide variety of durable and decorative siding materials such as those made out of vinyl and fiber-cement. He added that his company is also quickly becoming the go-to company in the Hamilton area for doing new skylight installations and repairs and for putting in place improved forms of attic insulation.

Guerra says that those who wish to know more about their quality Hamilton roofing services can contact him by phone, email, or by filling out the form found on their website?s homepage. In addition to Hamilton, he pointed out that they can also take care of any roofing needs that those in Brantford and Cambridge, Ontario require to be done.
