January 27, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Tallahassee, Fla. ? Many industries will be forced to examine their industry's future in order to stay afloat in 2021.?Mr. Rooter Plumbing, a?plumbing company in Tallahassee,?is?highlighting smart technology trends for the plumbing industry moving into the new year. The plumbing industry is trending towards increased use of smart technology to help homeowners and businesses monitor and track plumbing problems easily.?

The good news for the plumbing industry in 2021 is experts predict that the plumbing industry is expected to continue growing. Plumbers should take into account that this growth will be mainly achieved through the use of smart technology. Moving into 2021, many plumbers will need to start adding a variety of smart devices to their tool kits. Smart devices will provide customers with high-tech solutions and environmentally conscious choices. Some smart technology trends to look for include smart water leak detection devices, smart flow toilets, smart flow showers, and tankless water heaters.?

Additionally, with the onset of the coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic in 2020, the plumbing industry will likely make a huge shift towards smart fixtures in 2021. This shift includes touchless plumbing fixtures to combat the spread of germs and a variety of other devices such as digital faucets and more. Touchless plumbing fixtures will be ideal for businesses to help keep customers safe and remain open amid the pandemic. Smart technology will continue to grow the plumbing industry, especially as millennials, who are more comfortable with technology, will start making purchasing decisions in both homes and businesses.?
