January 27, 2021 -
Suffolk County, New York ? Jason Bassett, a top-rated Suffolk County DWI Defense Attorney, continues to build on his reputation and winning track record with another positive client testimonial.

Sara, G of Elwood, New York says: ?Jason Bassett is an outstanding counselor. I worked with attorneys for more than two decades and I worked with plenty of different kinds of attorneys. When my husband and I found ourselves in a terrible situation, I did a lot of research to find us the most effective representation. Immediately, Jason set my mind at ease and I understood we made the correct decision. Jason is understanding, kind, and incredibly competent. He works hard for his client and is always there to resolve any questions and alleviate any concerns. Because of Jason, the situation was settled quickly and efficiently. We are very happy with the end result and would recommend him to everyone who may also find themselves in a challenging situation.?

Based on Long Island, NY, and with a professional service area that extends to Elmwood, New York the Suffolk County DWI Defense Attorney has been effective in assisting the law firm's clients through the experiences and challenges of their DWI, DUI, and DWAI cases. Driving While Ability Impaired (DWAI) criminal charges present many complex variables for a criminal defense lawyer. However, Jason Bassett and his team at Bassett Law Offices | DWI Lawyer Suffolk County work carefully to ensure that their criminal defense clients are competently spoken for in and out of the courtroom.

About facing criminal DWI charges on Long Island, Jason Bassett says:

?If you have been charged with a DWI or DWAI, you may face many consequences depending on the situation and your conviction history. These include fines, suspensions, revocations, and even jail. Even if your blood alcohol level was .05%, you could still be facing severe consequences. Having a criminal conviction also follows you throughout life, affecting employment, career options, and even housing. Being charged with a DWI in New York does not mean that you will be convicted. The state must prove the charges against you. Having an experienced DWI lawyer representing your legal interests may get your charges minimized or even dropped altogether.?

Drunk driving criminal charges are known for their complex nature and may require plenty of laboriousness and skills to provide a proper defense to anyone charged under New York State law.

Jason Bassett goes on to explain:

?DWI charges are criminal charges that should never be taken lightly. Particularly if you have been charged with aggravated DWI, felony DWI, or have previous convictions on your record, having skilled representation may get the prosecution to regard you more favorably and lead to a possible plea bargain. Every DWI case is unique and will be dependent upon the charges, the facts surrounding your arrest, and your history. Your charges may be minimized or dismissed depending on if the arresting officer had probable cause. How cooperative were you at the time of the arrest? Was there a possible error in the field sobriety test? Were there witnesses who can attest that you were not intoxicated? Are you qualified for an impaired driver program? These may all be factors that our lawyer will consider when representing your case.?

Jason Bassett and his team at Bassett Law Offices | DWI Lawyer Suffolk County, work relentlessly to make sure every fact of a DWI case is thoroughly evaluated. This process may include reviewing police and medical records, a review of other cases involving either party, researching similar legal cases in New York, and more.

Bassett Law Offices | DWI Lawyer Suffolk County and Jason Bassett make every effort to work for their clients in a way that exceeds that of many other criminal defense attorneys. Likewise, the law office prides itself on its ongoing commitment to clients, a caring and thoughtful manner, and fighting for their client's rights in and out of the courtroom.
