Panama City, Fla. ? Many industries have been hit hard by the coronavirus pandemic, leading each one to closely examine the trends, details, and structure of their industry in hopes of moving towards prosperity in 2021. For the plumbing industry, this means taking a look at the current techniques being used and finding ways to improve them. Mr. Rooter Plumbing, a local plumbing company in Panama City, FL, is doing just that. As 2021 begins, they are pointing out and discussing plumbing trends for this year as the world continues moving towards smart technology.

Smart technology is becoming more and more common, even within simple daily tasks. The plumbing industry is no exception. Plumbers continue finding ways to implement smart technology into their plumbing techniques, bringing more efficiency and accuracy into their work. These 2021 smart plumbing trends will allow homeowners and businesses to track and monitor their plumbing problems more easily. Some of these smart plumbing devices include smart leak detection devices, smart flow showers, tankless water heaters, and smart flow toilets. Not only do these smart devices make plumbing tasks easier and plumbing systems work more efficiently, but they also provide for environmentally conscious solutions.

Because the plumbing industry itself is expected to grow in 2021, plumbers need to keep a close watch on new technology to add to their toolkits. Especially with the pandemic leading people to put a greater value on cleanliness, smart plumbing features that include touchless mechanisms are becoming very popular in homes, and even more so in businesses. These mechanisms will likely be in the back pocket of most plumbers during 2021.

Along with other leading plumbers in the nation, Mr. Rooter Plumbing of Northwest Florida makes sure to stay ahead of these changes in plumbing trends. They provide a myriad of plumbing services to both residential and commercial clients, such as pipe repairs, water leak detection, and water heater installation.
