Akron Residential Roofing Contractor Shares Tips On Making Roofs Last Longer

January 28, 2021

Akron, Ohio - January 28, 2021 -
TK Roofing and Gutters in Akron, OH, has shared a blog post with tips to maintain a roof. Roof maintenance is critical to the structural integrity of the home and keeping it in good shape. The Ohio residential roofer specializes in roof repair and replacement with decades of experience in the roofing industry. TK Roofing and Gutters highlights five tips for homeowners to help them get the most life out of their roof.

The residential roofing contractor explains the need for cleaning up the roof after stormy days to clear away leaves, branches, or other debris. The blog post cautions of the deceptively slippery roof after a storm, advising to wait until it has dried off before climbing a ladder to the roof and sweeping the debris diagonally downhill. It is equally important to clear the debris from downspouts and gutters. ?A clogged or damaged gutter can also cause damage to your roof and should be regularly inspected.?

The blog post identifies chimneys and skylights as potential trouble spots for the roof and suggests regular roof inspections for any damage to ensure the roof's longevity. Any cracked, peeled, or curled shingles or missing granules are signs of damage. The best certified residential roofing contractor in Ohio highlights the need for keeping an eye on the attic or interior ceiling to check for any signs of leakage to prevent any mold buildup, which could cause extensive damage.

Another important tip shared in the blog post is to look out for ice dams, which flows down toward the roof's colder edges and may re-freeze. Ice dams are potential hazards that may also cause leaks in the roof.

TK Roofing and Gutters is the top roof repair company in Akron, which suggests using an excellent moss cleaner to remove moss built-up on the roof. The blog post warns against the use of bristle brushes or power washers, which may damage the UV-protectant granules on the roof.
