February 01, 2021 -

Manassas, VA. ? As the New Year begins, many people have made resolutions and goals for 2021. However, some are looking forward to simply continuing to go strong and working hard to maintain the livelihood they have built over the years. This attitude describes Award Crafters this New Year. The Manassas awards shop is entering 2021, looking forward to their 58th year of continuing to provide high-quality products with the exceptional service their customers deserve.

Award Crafters has been operating since 1964. The business is family-owned and is a SWaM Certified Woman-owned Business, as well as a GSA-approved Vendor. Since its beginning, Award Crafters has taken pride in its custom products. Designing awards, trophies, plaques, promotional products, and more to meet the customer?s exact needs is what Award Crafters is all about, as these items are much more effective when they are personalized.

Over the years, Award Crafters has had the privilege of supplying exceptional quality awards to various high-profile clients. They have created awards bearing government seals and executive wall seals for The Office of the President of the United States, the Department of Homeland Security, the US Marine Corps, the National Association of Home Builders, and Lockheed Martin, as well as other government entities, trade associations, and private organizations.

Award Crafters feels honored to have supplied awards to these clients. However, they also take joy in creating unique awards for more common events, such as award ceremonies or sports games. They are thankful to every client for blessing them with 57 wonderful years of designing, producing, and distributing awards, and they eagerly await what the year 2021 has in store.
