September 14, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

London, UK, SEP 4, 2015 ? It can be difficult when seeking out a service oriented business to find one that matches their online reputation. Especially when one needs to trust in the service being provided, such as a locksmith might offer when one is feeling vulnerable after a break-in. In order to help London residents with this choice, Lockedout LockSmiths (www.lockedout-locksmiths.co.uk) has just published a new blog post authored by Brendan Connolly entitled 'Here?s What Customers Have to Say about the Best London Locksmiths'.

The article relates customer testimonials from actual customers in the London area who have experienced burglaries or lockouts and their locksmith experiences. Throughout the article, one company emerges with a reputation for above and beyond customer management.

?I was locked out of my house so I searched Google for locksmiths in Chiswick and called company Locked-Out Locksmiths,? states customer Vincent Humphrey. ?An engineer arrived within about 20 minutes, gave me an instant quote which was very reasonable and had me in my house in less than 5 minutes. I was very impressed with the service and will use this company again.?

?We know that time is of the essence especially when it comes to lock problems, key replacement, and similar emergencies in London,? states Connolly. ?As such, we make it a point to be at your doorstep within an hour.? Connolly's advice is derived directly from experienced professionals at Locked-Out Locksmiths. Locked-Out Locksmith employees undergo thorough background checks and are required to wear uniforms as well as carry identification cards while on the job, and their policy of no call-out charges.

?Having come home from work to find my house broken into, I was distressed and worried about the security of my house,? stated recent and satisfied customer Anna Holmton-Jones. ?I needed to have my front door boarded up and find a company who could come out in the evening. We called Brendan who came to our property in Clapham promptly. He explained what he would do and boarded up our door quickly and securely. We then arranged for him to return the next day to fit a new more secure door, which he did. Brendan was professional and reassured us that our property was now more secure.?
