September 17, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

3 Bees and Me, the online-based baby products company behind the popular changing station kit with mat for travel, announced earlier that their customers who are Amazon Prime members are eligible for free shipping. This is one of the perks given by the successful shopping website for their loyal customers. Those with orders over $35 can also enjoy this privilege.

"We are very happy to announce that the Amazon Prime members getting their very own diaper kit with black and white Chevron design are eligible for free shipping. Aside from the shopping website's credibility, we chose to partner with Amazon also because of the perks they give out to their valued customers," says 3 Bees and Me representative, Holly James. "We know that as parents, we want to save as much as possible, so if you are a prime member, you will be relieved of the shipping fees. If not, you can also buy more than one clutch so you can get free shipping too."

So far, this clutch has received numerous positive reviews from users. In one review by AmandaTZ, she wrote, "I bought this for my brother and sister in law that way they could have 1 for their car so they do not have to always take the big diaper bag around with them everywhere they go. You are able to keep a couple of diapers and a travel size pack of wipes in the zipper compartment. It is very easy to wash as well. All you need to do is wipe it down and it dries pretty fast. When you fold it up, it is nice and compact. It also comes with a wrist strap so you can carry it with you or strap it onto a stroller.?

As stated earlier, this diaper clutch boasts a Chevron design in black and white. It is small and compact, but can still fit various baby essential items such as diapers, baby clothes and wipes in its mesh pouch and compartment. In front of the clutch is a zippered pocket that can be used to house keys, money, cards and other important items. It also has a convenient wrist strap that can also be attached to a stroller during walks.

Again, Amazon Prime members purchasing the diaper station are now eligible for free shipping. The product is still available at amazon.com.
